Ike Asks for Authority To Share Limited Data on Atom Weapons

Berlin Windup Near

Molotov Tries New Indochina Squeeze Play, French Upset

BERLIN (AP)—A new Soviet squeeze play on Korea and the Indochina war developed in the Big Four Berlin conference today. It compelled French Foreign Minister Bidault to ask his Paris government for new instructions.

The nature of the new Russia move was not disclosed. It occurred in the fifth secret meeting of the foreign ministers at the Soviet Embassy this morning.

Bidault, "very perturbed" when the meeting broke up, asked his government for guidance, an official source disclosed.

The Big Four were conferring in secret primarily about Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's resolution for a Big Five parley, including Red China. The West has refused to admit the Peiping government as a great power in such talks but concedes it should sit around the same table as other powers when specific Asiatic subjects come up.

The aim of the West was to get Molotov to use his influence to revive the stalled Korean peace talks first of all. The principal goal of the French, however, is to do something about ending the Indochinese war. If Molotov has definitely consented to interceding in Indochina in exchange for full recognition for Peiping, Bidault may have been put in an extremely difficult position.

Western Stand

The Western Powers, insisting that the Peiping government was an aggressor in Korea and is supporting war in Indochina, have urged Molotov to abandon his position and agree to Big Four sponsorship of a meeting on a Korean peace settlement which could then be expanded into an Indochina peace conference. The Chinese Communists would be invited to attend but not as one of the great powers sponsoring the session.

Meanwhile, officials of the United States, Britain and France worked on the draft of a communique which may be issued jointly here by Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Eden and Foreign Minister Bidault of France.

American informants indicated they did not expect a communique in which Russia would join. They said there was no more reason to consider agreement possible on a communique than on anything else here.

Seek To Cut Restrictions

Western ministers were also working on proposals for reducing restrictions between the Soviet zone and the Western zones of Germany and in divided Berlin. Presumably action would have to be taken on this proposal this afternoon. There was some hope Molotov might cooperate since he obviously wants an increase in trade between East and West.

As the conference schedule now stands, discussion on an Austrian independence treaty may be brought up in the last session tomorrow.

Home Builders Get Plans for Using Hospital

Robinson's Proposals For Moving City Hall Receive Endorsement

Plans of Mayor Harold F. Robinson to convert the present City Hospital into a city hall were given the backing of the Marion Homebuilders Association at a meeting held Tuesday night at the Shangri-La restaurant.

Frank Warwick executive secretary, said members of the Association attending the meeting voted unanimously to support Mayor Robinson 100 per cent in his plans to convert the hospital for use as a city hall.

Part of this support will come in the form of a publicity campaign to inform Marion residents on the need for a new city hall and the advantages and disadvantages of locating it in the old city hospital, Warwick said.

Mayor Robinson attended the meeting and discussed his proposal for the new use for the hospital after it is vacated in September.

He told the builders he feels the hospital will be ideal for a city building since it would be rent free. Money now spent on rental could be used to improve the building, he said.

Mayor Robinson first proposed use of the hospital as a city hall last fall then later dropped the proposal temporarily when it was learned cost of remodeling might be prohibitive.

At the same time, he started a study into the feasability of building a combined city hall and municipal parking garage on the city-owned parking lot at S. Prospect and W. Church Sts. A set of preliminary drawings was prepared for these structures but no further official action taken on the proposal.

The Builders also discussed proposed Marion Township zoning regulations. Twenty-five members attended.

Next meeting of the association is scheduled for March 16 at the Shangri-La.

Temperature Skids 33 Degrees: Front Brings in Snowfall

Temperatures dropped 33 degrees in Marion and area last night as spring-like weather which had prevailed for several days was changed by cooler air moving into the eastern states.

Rain which fell nearly all day Tuesday and most of the night, totaling .77 of an inch, changed to snow early this morning and a half inch of snow was recorded by local weather officials.

It was early in the evening that temperatures began to drop and during the night the mercury slid from a high of 65 during the day to the freezing point, 32. A year ago today, cold weather also was at hand, with the high being 23 and the low 5.

Clearing and colder is the forecast for tonight, with Thursday to be fair and a little warmer. Low temperature tonight is to be around 25.

Throughout the northeastern states, rain and snow accompanied the chilly weather. In several eastern cities yesterday, record temperatures for the date and for February were reported. Readings were in the high 60s and 70s.

GOP in House Plans To Drop Big Tax Slash

$3 Billion in Annual Cuts Slated To Begin April 1 Will Be Deleted

WASHINGTON (AP)— Republicans on the House Ways and Means Committee were reported today to be planning early action, probably within two weeks, to cancel about three billion dollars in annual tax cuts set for April 1.

While acceding to administration requests to cancel corporation and excise tax reductions scheduled to take effect then, however, their plan calls for something less than a billion dollars in new cuts on other excise, or sales, taxes not involved in the scheduled April 1 change.

Several GOP members reported a consensus along these lines after a series of private strategy meetings this week by the 15-man GOP majority on the 25-man tax-writing committee.

They said they thought this program would help meet continuing verbal attacks by Democrats on a two-billion-dollar tax reduction and revision project on which the committee is now completing work.

President Eisenhower has urged cancellation of the three billion dollars in tax reductions scheduled April 1. These would cut corporation income taxes from 52 to 47 per cent, and reduce excises on liquor, cigarettes, gasoline, automobiles, beer and wine, and sporting goods.

Eisenhower also has taken a stand against any losses in revenue from other excise taxes. But Republican lawmakers and administration officials were reported to be discussing this field with some

Wright Chosen Atlantic Chief

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House announced today the appointment of U S Adm. Jerauld Wright as supreme commander of Allied forces in the Atlantic.

Wright will replace Adm. Lynde C. McCormick on April 12.

The White House said President Eisenhower also is nominating Wright to be commander in chief o. the U.S. Atlantic Fleet and commander in chief of the U.S. Atlantic Command.

"I feel that Adm. Wright is extremely well qualified to perform the duties of supreme Allied commander, Atlantic. Adm. Wright has had extensive background and naval command experience in positions of vital importance and he is an officer of outstanding character and ability."

Feels House Will Strengthen It

Bricker Willing To Take George's Treaty Version

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said today if the Senate rejects his version of a proposed constitutional amendment to curb treaty powers, he will back a substitute offered by Sen. George (D-Ga).

"If we can get any proposal through the Senate I think the House will strengthen it because all the members there are up for re-election this year and they are responsive to public sentiment," he said in an interview.

Willing To Compromise

Bricker's avowed willingness to take what he can get—in this case possibly the milder amendment suggested by George—apparently posed the most serious threat to administration leaders seeking passage of a treaty power proposal acceptable to the White House.

President Eisenhower has said he is opposed to any change in the Constitution which would limit his authority to deal with other nations or upset the traditional balance of power among the government's branches.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP leader has said both the Bricker and George proposals fall within those objections in their present form.

Amendment Pending

Bricker has proposed to revise his original treaty measure to provide in its chief section that no treaty or other international agreement can become effective as internal law except by act of Congress or by a separate two-thirds vote of the Senate.

His revision will come before the Senate, now in its 15th day of debate on the issues, after disposal

Richard Holloway Falls From Car, Hit by Another

A two-year-old Marion boy became the third 1954 traffic fatality in the city and the seventh in Marion County in a tragic accident Tuesday night at Silver and Edwards Sts. It was one of a total of six accidents reported on city streets and county highways by police and the state highway patrol.

Killed was Richard A. Holloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold L. Holloway of 224 Edwards St.

Car Door Opens

The mishap occurred at 8:05 p.m. as Holloway was driving west on Silver St. making a left turn onto Edwards St. Just as he was turning off Silver St. the right front door of his car came open and the little boy fell out into the path of an oncoming car driven by Eugene L. Elliott, 36, of 393 Toledo Ave.

Before Elliott could stop, his car had passed over the little boy. Taken to the hospital, Richard was dead on arrival. Police reported he suffered multiple fractures of both legs, a fractured skull, jaw, and ribs.

It was believed Holloway and his son were returning from a visit to Mrs. Holloway at City Hospital at the time of the accident. She was confined to the hospital after giving birth to another son Sunday.

Latch Defective

Police reported that apparently the door on Holloway's car was either not latched securely or the latch was defective.

Richard Allen Holloway was born July 4, 1951, in Marion, the son of Harold L. and Clarice Sauers Holloway.

Surviving with his parents are two brothers, Stephen, 13 months, and James, two days, grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Holloway of Richwood and Floyd Sauers of Marion, and great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Erwin of Richwood.

Funeral services will be conducted Friday at 2 p.m. in the Winter Funeral Chapel in Richwood. Rev. Richard N. Tice of Central Methodist Church in Rich-

Two Witnesses Tell of Fire at Supermarket

Ex-Employe Testifies Against Sternbaum In Trial at Mansfield

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—Two witnesses today described what they saw at the old Sternbaum supermarket office building on Dec. 4, 1952, before and after fire destroyed the building and burned the body of 31-year-old Leah Sternbaum.

Margaret Svetoivanec, former Sternbaum employe, told of seeing a small blaze like that from a kerosene lamp in the office where E. Max Sternbaum says he and his wife Leah were attacked by robbers who then set fire to the building.

'Seemed to Blow Up'

"As I stood and looked," she said, "it seemed to blow up. I ran to the market to tell them there was a fire."

The former Sternbaum employe, who said she was working in a nearby store stocking shelves, told the court she had looked out a back door shortly after midnight to see whether Sternbaum was in his office. She said she saw 'no lights after midnight." She saw the fire about 12:30.

Sternbaum is charged with first-degree murder in the death of his wife. He also faces an arson charge in the burning of the small supermarket office building.

Came to Office

Margaret Svetoivanec, a state witness, told the court she often looked out the back door of the store when she made trips there to get merchandise. She said she often had seen Sternbaum working at his desk in the office building, but at the time Leah Sternbaum died she saw no one working there.

Sternbaum came to the office building shortly before 10, she said, and unlocked the office building. She told of seeing "someone move

NEW YORK (AP)—Twentieth Century-Fox Film Corp. has filed a two-million-dollar damage suit in federal court here against actor Marlon Brando, alleging he "refuses to perform under his current contract and contemplates working for others."

Message Sent To Congress; Defense Cited

Will Bolster Security Of Free World, Aid U.S., President Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower asked Congress today for authority to share limited information on battlefield use of atomic weapons with friendly nations.

In a special message, the President also asked for the right to share peacetime atomic power production information with this country's allies and to give American private industry a greater share in the development of nuclear power.

Eisenhower said these steps would have the effect of "strengthening the defense and the economy of the United States and of the free world."

The President said the onward rush of atomic developments has outmoded the 1946 Atomic Energy act which mistakenly assumed the United States could maintain a monopoly in atomic weapons for an appreciable time.

Counterbalancing the loss of monopoly, he said, is the development of a wide variety of atomic weapons which have "achieved conventional status" in the armed forces.

He added:

"The thermonuclear weapons (hydrogen bomb) — nonexistent eight years ago—today dwarfs in destructive power all atomic weapons. The practicability of constructing a submarine with atomic propulsion was questionable in 1946; three weeks ago the launching of the U.S.S. Nautilus made it certain that the use of atomic energy for ship propulsion will ultimately become widespread.

"In 1946, too, economic indus-

Ike To Consult With Congress Over Indochina

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators said today President Eisenhower has promised to consult Congress before acting in any crisis which might bring demands for use of American troops in Indochina.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) reported transmission of this pledge to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Acting Secretary of State Walter Bedell Smith.

Eisenhower has said there are no present plans to send combat units there.

Sen. George (D-Ga) said the acting secretary had made it clear at a closed committee meeting yesterday that this country is reserving its decision on what it might do if (1) Chinese Communist troops intervene in Indochina or (2) the French should decide to withdraw from that important strategic area, scene of seven years' warfare against Communist-led forces.

Congressman Talks

More Devastating H-Weapons Hinted

CHICAGO (AP) — A congressional atomic specialist hinted today the United States may have hydrogen weapons even more potent than a device that nearly 18 months ago tore a hole a mile wide and 175 feet deep in the floor of the Pacific Ocean.

Rep. W. Sterling Cole (R-NY), chairman of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee, gave details never before discussed publicly of a 1952 thermonuclear test in the Marshall Islands. President Eisenhower has termed that test a first step in the nation's hydrogen program.

Describes Blast

Cole said in a luncheon speech, "That thermonuclear test of 1952 completely obliterated the test island in the Eniwetok Atoll.

"It tore a cavity in the floor of the ocean—a crater measuring a full mile in diameter and 175 feet in depth at its lowest point.

"Within . . . this crater, one could place 140 structures the size of our nation's capitol."

If this blast had been touched off in a modern city, Cole said, the resultant heat and blast would have completely devastated an area three miles in all directions from the point of explosion.

In all, he said, the 1952 blast would have blanketed an area of 300 square miles.

Progress Being Made

But this test was held almost a year and a half ago, Cole said, and he added,

"Security keeps me from commenting on where our hydrogen weapons program now stands, and from outlining the directions in which it is now moving. But I can assure you that it is moving."

Cole said he feels "it is more sinful to conceal the power of the atom than to reveal it."

He referred indirectly to a recent remark of Secretary of Defense Wilson, who told a news conference he wished there was less "atom rattling."

Scientists Find A New Antidote For Deadly Gas

NEW YORK, Feb. 17 (AP)—The life-saving antidote for frightening nerve-gas war now can be made artificially, and there is already enough to treat 400 million persons, it was disclosed today.

The drug is atropine, until now obtained only from plants grown mostly in Iron Curtain countries controlled by Russia.

The synthetic drug, made with chemicals from petroleum, frees this country from dependence upon foreign supplies.

Synthetic production of atropine is announced by Winthrop-Stearns, Inc., of New York City and Rensselaer, N. Y.

Paralyzes Nerves

Nerve gas blocks or paralyzes nerves, causing death unless quickly counteracted. Atropine is the best known antidote, for it neutralizes the paralyzing chemical in nerve gas.

The firm has supplied 330 pounds of atropine for Defense Department stockpiles. A life-saving dose is only 1-150th of a grain of atropine sulfate. Thus a single pound of atropine is enough to treat more than one million persons. The drug can be stockpiled, in ampules ready for injection, at strategic locations for military or civilian use.

Believe Reds Hoarding

Atropine is obtained naturally from atropa belladonna and datura stramonium. The biggest producers of these plants are Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Bulgaria, Rumania and Yugoslavia, with some now beginning to be grown in Australia.

"There is evidence that large quantities of natural atropine have been disappearing recently behind the Iron Curtain," said Dr. Theodore G. Klumpp, president of Winthrop-Stearns.

Cave Explorers Discover Weird, Unknown Rooms

CRYSTAL CAVE, Ky. (AP) — Unknown canyons deep in the earth beneath the rolling hills of southern Kentucky were reached today by a tired band of Crystal Cave explorers.

Great cave rooms, decorated with spider-like stone formations, were found by three male members of the National Speleological (cave study) Society expedition.

After three hours of tortuous crawling and climbing they broke into "the beyond"—the explorers' term for the dark world of rough virgin passages 300 feet below the scenic landscape of the Mammoth Cave National Park area.

The zigzagging passages opened into larger cave rooms where the strangely contorted stone projections called helictites, rarest of all cave formations dangled from the ceilings.

The three explorers—John Lehrberger of Louisville, Ky., Russell H. Curtice of Tenafly, N. J., and Albert C. Mueller Jr. of Scotch Plains, N. J.—listened to their words bounce back from cave walls that never before echoed the voices of men.

At the expedition's advance camp three miles inside the cave, Phil Harsham, Louisville Courier Journal reporter with the expedition, said the three explorers pushed beyond "Bogardus Waterfalls."

Striking out from the falls, said Lehrberger, a Louisville dance instructor, was 'like diving into a bowl of spaghetti—passages ran in every direction."

"There was considerable excitement at the camp," William Burke Miller, an NBC newsman accompanying the expedition said. Other

Douglas Says Statistics Back Recession Talk

Points to Government Figures on Jobless As Proof of His Claims

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) said today new government unemployment statistics support his contention that the nation already is in a recession.

The Commerce Department announced last night that a new method of gathering data indicates unemployment in early January totaled 3,087,000 or 728,000 more than a previous report showed.

The department said its Census Bureau collected statistics over a much wider area than before. Secretary Weeks said studies will be made to tell whether the new or old method is more accurate.

Claims Support

Douglas said in an interview the new unemployment total for early January "supports my previous contention that the unemployment figures issued by the Commerce Department have been drastically understated."

And some Republicans privately questioned the political wisdom of changing sampling methods at this time.

One Republican leader in the Senate said in another interview he could not understand switching to a new statistical method at a time Democrats were shouting "recession." He asked not to be quoted by name.

Ferguson Disagrees

But Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, disagreed with his Republican colleagues who grumbled privately about possible adverse political repercussions.

"This does not change my mind at all about statements that we are entering a depression," he said "We are not."

The new figure, he said, showed unemployment at about 5 per cent of the labor force, while normally he said, it is about 3 per cent.

The old method pegged unemployment at 2,259,000 the first week in January. The difference was almost entirely accounted for by an increase in the number of persons credited to the labor force, which consists of all persons working or looking for work.

Not Counted

The Commerce Department for years has not counted as unemployed those workers who are "temporarily" laid off. But Douglast has maintained they should be added in, since he has claimed temporary layoffs often extend well beyond stipulated 30-day periods.

Under the old method of sampling, Weeks said, Census Bureau workers asked questions at about 25,000 households in 68 areas covering 123 counties.

The new method, he said, spreads the sample into 230 areas covering approximately 450 counties. The same number of households was visited.

The new survey, it was understood, took in small towns and semirural areas not covered before.

Weeks said the new sampling resulted from a plan he approved last August "to improve present methods . . ." The figures announced last night are preliminary. They cover the week of Jan. 3-9.

Unemployment in the depression year of 1935 averaged 10,610,000. The post-World War II peak was reached in February 1950—4,681,000.

Atomic

trial power from atomic energy sources seemed very remote; today, it is clearly in sight—largely a matter of further research and development, and the establishment of conditions in which the spirit of enterprise can flourish."

The President proposed a number of amendments to the Atomic Energy Act.

He said with emphasis, however, that changes should "make it clear that the authority granted must be exercised only in accordance with conditions prescribed by the President to protect the common defense and security." And he stressed that no secrets are to be given away which would be of military advantage to potential enemies.

Under present law, the President said, this country cannot give its Allies "practical information essential to their effective participation with us in combined military operations and planning, and to their own defense against atomic attack."

'Will Increase Security'

"Our own security will increase," he said, "as our Allies gain information concerning the use of and the defense against atomic weapons.

"Some of our Allies, in fact, are now producing fissionable materials or weapons, supporting effective atomic energy research and developing peace time uses for atomic power.

"But all of them should become better informed in the problems of atomic warfare and, therefore, better prepared to meet the contingency of such warfare. In order for the free world to be an effective defense unit, it must be geared to the atomic facts of this era."

2 Recommendations

Eisenhower then made these two specific recommendations.

1. The exchange with America's Allies of "such tactical information as is essential to the development of defense plans and to the training of personnel for atomic warfare."

2. Modification of security limitations set up in 1951 to allow information on peace time uses of atomic power to be "adjusted to present conditions."

This kind of cooperation, the President said, requires exchange of certain restricted data on the industrial applications of atomic energy and also the release of fissionable materials "in amounts adequate for industrial and research use."

This country, Eisenhower said, must have assurances such material will not be used for military purposes by the countries getting it.

"Sharing certain information with other nations involves risks that must be weighed in each instance, against the net advantages to the United States," the President said.

Separate Proposals

Eisenhower noted his proposals are separate from his move last December to get Russia's cooperation in an international atomic energy development program.

He said he would propose additional legislation to take care of that if current talks with the Soviet Union make this necessary.

Eisenhower proposed the Atomic Energy Commission be given authority which at present only the President has to allow private citizens or corporations to engage in the production of fissionable material outside the United States.

Asserting the commercial use of atomic energy for power "can soon be a reality," the President said a number of private firms already are studying various reactor types which might be developed to produce power at an economical cost.

"There are indications," he said, "that they would increase their efforts significantly if the way were open for private investment in such reactors."

Specific Proposals

The President made these specific proposals aimed at a joint development program by the government and private industry:

1. Relaxation of bans against private ownership or leasing of fissionable material and the facilities for producing it.

2. Permission for private manufacture, ownership, and operation of atomic reactors and related activities.

3. Authority for the Atomic Energy Commission to establish safety and security regulations governing the use of fissionable material.

4. Permission for AEC to supply atomic materials and services at cost.

5. Liberalization of the Atomic Energy Act's patent provisions, principally by expanding the area in which private patents can be obtained.

Attorneys Named for 3 Persons Awaiting Trials

Common pleas judge Paul D. Smith yesterday appointed attorneys for three defendants previously indicted by grand jury.

The court appointed Paul Simpson as attorney for Harold Walker, now under indictment for assault of an eight-year-old girl. John Arter Jr. was appointed to defend Ted Lacey, who has been indicted for fraud, and E. L. Mitchell was designated as attorney for Robert Russell, now under an embezzlement indictment.

On Monday the three defendants had appeared without counsel. Each gave insufficient funds as the reason. Judge Smith then directed a plea of not guilty be given for each man. After each attorney has had an opportunity to investigate the case, a hearing will be held if a change in the plea is desired.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

An auto was stolen and recovered yesterday, the Marion County sheriff reported today. A 1938 coupe owned by Isaiah Millington of 450 Dennison Ave. was reported missing from the Marion Industries parking lot at 3:30 yesterday afternoon. Millington had parked the car in the lot on Monday, but did not discover its loss until yesterday. The Sheriff reported the car was recovered at 8 p.m. yesterday, but did not reveal where the car had been found.

College Pupils Earnest, Sound, Educator Says

Otterbein President Third Speaker for Rotary Club's Series

Dr J. Gordon Howard, president of Otterbein College at Westerville since 1945, was guest speaker at the Marion Rotary Club weekly luncheon meeting Tuesday at Hotel Harding.

His talk on "Preparation for Life After College" was the third in a series regarding what schools are doing to prepare a boy for a career in business.

Previous speakers were E. E. Holt, superintendent of Springfield schools, whose talk concerned preparation for college, and Dr. Richard R. Gay, director of religious activities and instructor of religious education at Ohio Wesleyan University, whose subject was "Preparation in College."

Dr. Howard pointed out that colleges prepare the student for business by teaching him the basic principles, but college preparation is so broad a field, that it can not be pin-pointed to the individual circumstance. Therefore, it is up to the businessman to pick up where the professor leaves off and do the polishing for his own particular needs.

"The great majority of college students are sound, hard-working earnest young people," the speaker said, "and their potential for the future should not be underestimated."

Speaking of the college as a preparation place for the life ahead, Dr. Gordon said the college is several things. He explained it is a place to work, adding that 90 per cent of the students are working earnestly to prepare themselves for life; it is a community where students learn the art of community living; it is a swiftly-flowing street where things have to be done quickly and well; and it is a place for new ideas.

Dr. Gordon told his audience that students today are preparing to live in a world that now is reaching an era of great atomic power with no one knowing exactly what lies ahead, and they are preparing to live in a world of great political, social and economic complexity.

He explained that college aids the students in that it helps them to live as adults by giving them facts and data, or in other words "know - what," gives them the "know-why," or their significance, and develop leadership, the skill of exerting influence on others, or the "knowhow."

Dr. Gordon believes leadership is developed only by experience.

Visiting Rotarians at the meeting were E. R. Chandler of East Liverpool, Ferene P. Szasz and Paul E. Downend of Bucyrus. Guests included N. J. Schnelker and Dale Schmidt of Marion, M. A. Cavenaugh and E.W.G. Borer of Philadelphia, Pa.

Taxes

hopes of avoiding any real intra-party fight.

One plan with some backing among GOP lawmakers would reduce all excises now above 10 per cent down to that level, except for liquor and tobacco. This would provide reductions on furs, jewelry, luggage, women's handbags, cosmetics, movie and other admissions, telephone and telegraph bills, passengers fares, and other items.

Compromise Offered

A compromise suggestion—more likely to soften or eliminate administration opposition—is to reduce the maximum excise tax level to 15 per cent.

The Republican tax strategy conferences were said to have agreed informally on wrapping up corporation and excise tax rates in a single bill to be acted upon by the committee before the general tax revision project hits the House floor.

Republicans said extending the 52 per cent tax rates on corporations, imposed after the Korean War started, would hold ward off Democratic blasts that the revision project leans too heavily in favor of big business.

May Satisfy Critics

They added that the proposed excise cuts should help meet a Democratic argument that the tax program doesn't provide enough benefits for the average citizen.

To counter further the Democratic attack, Republicans are considering backing down a bit from a previously approved plan of sharp reductions in taxes on stock dividends.

The plan provides a three-stage reduction, with stockholders being permitted to deduct a percentage of their dividend income—not from their income figure, but from the actual tax bill they otherwise would pay.

In 1953 the U. S. birth rate was nearly 25 per 1,000 of population.

Sternbaum

over in the car," but when Dave Sternbaum's wife asked her to see whether Max was in the office shortly after midnight, no one was there.

Mrs. Anna Ruth Ross, who lives on Sternbaum property next to the spot where the office stood, described events after the fire broke out. She said she was awakened by a woman's scream and a thud, but was not sufficiently alarmed to remain awake.

Later she heard someone crying, "My wife, my wife! She's inside!"

When she reached her front porch she saw a man on the front porch of the office building on his hands and knees. He made repeated efforts to get into the office, she said, and kept urging the people there to rescue his wife.

She said later she saw someone drag Sternbaum from the porch. "Someone tried to get him to come into my house, and he refused," she said, "because he 'wasn't going anyplace until they get my wife out.'"

Mrs. Ross also told the court she frequently saw lights in the office when someone was working late, but on that night she had seen no light.

Louis Mandel of Willard, Mrs Sternbaum's father, was scheduled to take the stand later to testify against his son-in-law.

Prosecutor Theodore Lutz also plans to call two Mansfield jewelers in an attempt to prove Sternbaum clubbed his wife to death with a wrench because he was in love with someone else. Lutz said he hopes to show Sternbaum purchased expensive gifts for another woman.

In an attempt to crack Sternbaum's story that he was working the night of Dec. 4, Lutz drew testimony from five of Sternbaum's neighbors yesterday.

The neighbors—Mr. and Mrs. John Bose, Charles Frye, Charles Wade and Mrs. Barbara Dekrell—all said they often had seen Sternbaum working late at night and there always had been at least a night light on in the office. The night Mrs. Sternbaum died, however, they said they saw no light.

According to earlier testimony, the wrench the prosecution calls the murder weapon was found on a clerk's desk in the room where Mrs. Sternbaum's body was discovered.

The clerk, 18-year-old Vivian Howard, testified the wrench was not on her desk when she left work the evening before the fire.

Stolen Safe Found

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP)—A 400-pound safe stolen Feb. 8 from the National Life Insurance Co., Hamilton, Ohio, was found yesterday in Three Mile Creek under a bridge, county patrolman Al Seifried reported.

It was empty, he added. The safe reportedly contained about $100 when it was carried away from Hamilton.

General Calls Marine Officer Brave Soldier

Schwable, Confessor Of Germ Warfare, Is Supported by Ex-Boss

WASHINGTON (AP) — The former Marine air commander in Korea today described Col. Frank H. Schwable, who made a false confession of germ warfare, as one of the most "conscientious and brave" officers he had ever known.

Maj. Gen. Clayton C. Jerome, now aircraft commander of the Atlantic Fleet Marine Force, gave this testimony in the second day of the court of inquiry convened to decide whether Schwable will be disciplined for the confession which he later repudiated.

Jerome said that Schwable was his chief of staff at the time he was shot down on a flight in July, 1952, and captured by the Communists. Aside from praising Schwable's bravery, Jerome also said he was one of the brightest officers he had known.

Jerome testified that Schwable's ill-fated flight was authorized but that the route had not been specified. Jerome added, under questioning by court counsel, that he believed Schwable had taken a route that was "well within a proper reconnaisance area" and that high winds had drifted the aircraft northward across the enemy's line.

The court—made up of three Marine generals and a Navy admiral—will report its findings to the Marine Corps, which then will decide whether to court-martial Schwable for the confession he made while a Red prisoner in Korea.

He renounced that confession after he was freed last year. He said then the Reds induced him to sign after "extreme torment."

The court convened yesterday and its counsel, Lt. Col. Kenneth A. Murphy, took up most of the time developing a background of the case. He said the court would sit about two or three weeks.

Murphy told newsmen he plans to offer a number of United Nations documents, including statements by Jacob Malik, Soviet delegate to the U.N., and by Dr. Charles Mayo, eminent medical authority and member of the U.S. delegation.

At the outset, Murphy asked the court to take judicial notice of naval regulations that say a prisoner of war "shall not disclose any information other than his name, rank and serial number."

This is the first time in Marine history that such a court has been convened to examine the conduct of one of its men while in enemy hands. Schwable was the highest ranking Marine captured in the Korean War.

He is 45 and lives in nearby Arlington, Va.

He was chief of staff of the 1st Marine Air Wing, when he and Maj. Roger Bley of Cabool, Mo., were shot down over enemy lines in June 1952. They were held captive by the Communists for 15 months.

One Crash in County

One County accident was reported today by the Marion post of the state highway patrol.

William H. Glenn, 21, of 562 Avondale Ave., was injured at 9:15 a.m. Monday when he failed to negotiate a curve on Route 4. Glenn's car went off the road and two miles north of Route 23, turned over. Glenn was taken home and then to the Marion City Hospital that night with a concussion, fractured left arm and multiple abrasions and contusions. His condition is reported by hospital authorities this morning to be "good."

The car was demolished.

Four Other Mishaps

City police reported four minor, no injury traffic accidents during the last 24 hours.

At 2:35 a.m. today, a car driven by George E. Tennant, 45, of near Marion skidded into a fire hydrant at Senate and Silver Sts. Police reported there was no damage to the fire plug and only slight damage to the car.

Cars driven by Erma R. Kelly of near Upper Sandusky and William E. Pride, 44, of near Marion collided in the 500 block on N. Main St. at 4:42 p.m. Tuesday.

At 10:16 p.m. Tuesday, cars driven by Edwin L. Pierce, 18, of 382 Fahey St. and Gerald C. Fleming, 37, of 196 Carhart St. collided on S. Prospect St. near W. Columbia St.

Tuesday morning at 9:08 a.m., cars driven by Dr. C. G. Smith, 73, of 857 S. Prospect St. and Bruce McVey, 77, of Columbus were involved in an accident in front of 373 S. Main St.

Proves Ability

Young Singer Captivates Audience in Concert Here

Barbara Gibson, youthful soprano, was heard in the third concert on the Marion Concert Association's 1953-54 series Tuesday night at Harding High School.

The young singer, — she is just past 20 — gave a brilliant account of herself in a program that seemed especially fitted to her charm and personality and she captivated her audience with her dramatic interpretations in each number.

There was a generous sprinkling of arias in the program, and in these, as well as in her other numbers, she left no doubt in the minds of her audience as to her gift of voice and ability in the field of music and drama.

THE AUDIENCE WAS not unmindful of the excellent support of the artist's accompanist, Stanley Sonntag, and welcomed him wholeheartedly in his two numbers in the second half of the program.

Miss Gibson chose the aria "Una voce poco fa," from Rossini's opera, "The Barber of Seville," to open the program and closed with Zerbinetta's aria from "Ariadne auf Naxos," by Richard Strauss. She sang the fire aria from "L'Enfant et les Sortileges," by Ravel in her third group. Her numbers for the first half of the program included "Pastorale," Carey, "My Lovely Celia," Munro, "Lo, here the gentle Lark," Bishop, "Dos Cantares Populares," Obradors, "Granadina," Nin, "Habanera" Ravel and the Bell song from "Lakme," Delibes.

Two numbers by Rachmaninoff, "The Answer" and "Here Beauty Dwells," were included in the group opening the second half of the program. Completing the group were "Waltz," Medtner and "Snowdrop," Gretchaninoff.

Mr. Sonntag chose for his numbers, "Reflections in the Water," Debussy and the gay "Can Can" from the ballet based on music by Rossini.

At the finish of the Strauss aria Miss Gibson was brought back to the stage to sing two encores, a tuneful bit about whistling girls and crowing hens, and "Kiss Me Again." Mr. Sonntag also returned for an encore following his numbers.

—:—

FOLLOWING THE PROGRAM there was a brief open meeting called by Dr. Neil Price, president of the Concert Association Board during which concert patrons as well as the board members were asked to voice their wishes regarding next year's concert series. William Cowles, campaign chairman spoke of plans for the coming campaign to be held in March and asked the cooperation of patrons as well as the board.

The final scheduled concert will be held March 4, at which time Szymon Goldberg, violinist will be heard.

The singer made a pleasing picture in a filmy white gown by Ceil Chapman. Accenting the strapless bodice and tiered bouffant skirt was a midriff of cerise satin and caught at the back were flat loops of the satin cascading to the hem of her gown.

Serving as ushers were Carolyn Jones, Evelyn Price, Lannea Gonzales and Sally Schneider.

Soprano Says Musical Climb Stroke of Luck

"I was lucky," is the self-effacing remark used by American coloratura soprano Barbara Gibson to describe her brilliant, though youthful, career.

Only 24 and the daughter of non-musical parents, Miss Gibson sang in high school operettas in Staten Island, N. Y. At 17, she was auditioned by Cesari Sturam who took her as his student. Just three years later Brazilian soprano Bidu Sayao heard her at a Sturani recital and recommended her to the proper people. One of these people happened to be Donald Voorhees, conductor of the Telephone Hour orchestra. Thus, at the age of 20 she made her professional debut on that radio program, the first time such a debut had been made. Since the initial broadcast, Miss Gibson has compiled an impressive list of radio appearances, 11 on the Telephone Hour and five on the Firestone Hour, the latter both radio and TV.

Other triumphs for the young American soprano were a Nov. 22, 1953 broadcast with Arturo Toscanini. To be accepted by perfectionist Toscanini is, in itself, a high honor, but to actually perform with him is a great musical experience, Miss Gibson said when she was finished with her part tears were streaming down her face. She said the Maestro seem to hypnotize the artist.

Just last year, also, Miss Gibson sang with the San Francisco Civic Opera Company. That group is considered by many to be superior to the Metropolitan Opera Company. It was during her performances in the Golden Gate City that Miss Gibson discovered a love for opera. She states her desire to become an opera singer, though she "dearly loves" concert work.

Barbara Gibson is a typical attractive American girl. You would not pick her out as a promising soprano, certainly. She is not in the least affected, is very sincere, and enjoys her work very much. It was easy to see that she enjoyed her visit to Marion exceedingly; all who heard her last night enjoyed her visit, too.

Bricker

of a pending amendment offered by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich).

Ferguson asked the Senate to agree to amend Article VI of the Constitution to make it read that "no treaty made after the establishment of this Constitution shall be the supreme law of the land unless made in pursuance of this Constitution."

This language, designed to guarantee court review of treaties on the question of consututionality, was opposed by George and his following of Democrats on the ground that it would cast legal doubt on every treaty signed since the Constitution was adopted.

Support Proposed

Bricker said he is supporting the Ferguson proposal—announced by Knowland as acceptable to the White House. But a close vote was in prospect if George's followers who want some change made in the Constitution joined a bloc of about 20 senators who contend the Constitution should stand as it is.

George said in an interview that he can't support Bricker's own revision because, like the White House, he thinks it "goes too far." But he said he is telling his backers to vote on it as they choose.

This semed unlikely to give Bricker the support he needs—a majority of those voting—to revise his proposal. For final adoption, a constitutional change must have support of two thirds of those voting in both houses and approval of three fourths of the states.

Morse May Block Action

Knowland said George's substitute may have to await the results of an effort by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore) to send the whole issue back to the Judiciary Committee. Knowland, Bricker, George and their followers all oppose such a move.

George's substitute would provide (1) that a treaty or other international agreement which conflicts with the Constitution would be void and (2) that no international agreement other than a treaty could become internal law except by act of Congress.

This would make all treaties self-executing when ratified by the Senate, but would restrict the operation of executive agreements not submitted to the Senate for ratification.

Bricker's proposal would go beyond this to require congressional action on treaties, as well as executive agreements, to make them applicable as domestic law.

In its only action on the treaty controversy yesterday, the Senate voted 72-16 to add to the pending measure a provision requiring Senate roll calls on ratification of future treaties. Some in the past have been approved by voice vote with few senators present.

Explorers

exploring groups, of four or five members each, also had probed into hitherto unknown passageways.

Discover Shortcut

A group led by R. E. Charlton, a farmer of Dillwyn, Va., discovered an unknown shortcut to Bogardus Waterfalls. The old route took seven tedious hours to travel one way. The shortcut saved other explorers four valuable hours to spend searching on the other side of the falls, which are named for "Bud" Bogardus, 22-year-old Kentucky farmer who first found them in 1949.

The expedition's 60 men and women members make it the largest venture of its type ever attempted in America.

They have yet to pass all guide marks left by Crystal Cave's discoverer, Floyd Collins, who died when a sliding rock pinned him in a hollow of nearby Sand Cave in 1925.

Results of the all-week exploration, now just three days old, will be assembled in maps and scientific information on what is to be found in the cave.

RECRUITER TO VISIT

Representatives from the Women's Army Corps and the Women's Air Force will be in Marion Thursday to discuss their respective services with any Marion women interested in enlisting. Staff Sgt. James LeRow of the Army and Air Force recruiting office on the third floor of the Courthouse said M-Sgt. Charlotte Garcis of the WAC and S-Sgt. Ann Yoder of the WAF will be at the office from 1 to 4 p.m.

I've got a secret I just can't keep. Jim traded the old car for a better used one. He reasoned that winter is a good time to trade, especially with all the good cars being traded in on the new '54's. It's smart: it's for better safety and economy, and the BEST BUYS are in the used car columns of the Marion Star Want Ads. Just look and see.

Marion Lions To Be Host for Area Meeting

Annual Convention Of District 13-E Set Here March 13 and 14

The Marion Lions Club will be host to the 44 Lions clubs in District 13-E for the annual district convention in Marion on March 13-14.

Each year, sub-district conventions are held in each of the eight districts throughout the state prior to the state convention. This year, the state convention has been scheduled for May 14-15 in Cleveland.

Scott To Preside

Robert Scott of Marion, district governor and a member of the Marion Lions Club, will preside for various sessions during the convention. About 500 persons, including Lions and their wives, are expected to be on hand.

Tentative plans call for registration to get under way Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock and continue throughout the afternoon and evening, with headquarters at Hotel Harding. For Lions members and their wives, a reception and governor's ball is planned for Saturday night at the Marion Country Club. Nels Blocker and his orchestra will play for dancing at 9:30 following a cocktail hour.

Sunday morning, local and visiting Lions and their wives will attend the church of their choice and registration also will be held from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Hotel Harding.

Service in Afternoon

A necrology service for Lions and their ladies will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 in the ballroom of the hotel. This ceremony will be in honor of Lions members who have died during the past year.

Main business session for the Lions will follow at 2:30 and also will be held in the ballroom. Mr. Scott will preside.

While the men's business meeting is being held, visiting wives will be entertained at a tea in the Plantation Room of Hotel Harding, with the Marion Lioness Club serving as the hostess group. Entertaining the ladies will be Rev. Ralph Cornell of Rising Sun, O., pianist and humorist.

Concluding the two-day meeting will be a banquet Sunday at 6 p.m. at the YMCA. Main speaker will be Dr. Dan Martin of Greenville, O., a director and Lions International candidate for third vice president.

General committee from the Marion club in charge of arrangements for the convention is composed of Paul Frye, chairman, Robert Cripps, Robert Morrison, Bethel Hurst, Howard Ryan, W. P. Applegett and T. I. Martin.

SALVAGE MATERIALS BURN. Firemen battle a spectacular fire at its height as it swept through the salvage yard of the Peck Iron & Metal Co., Inc., at Richmond, Va. Hundreds of barrels of tar and other salvage materials fed the fire, and accompanying explosions sent debris and flames soaring into the air. Seven firemen suffered minor injuries in fighting the blaze.

Bride Wed Without Knowing She Had Fatal Illness Dies

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—Mrs. Paul Chylak Jr., 21, who married her state trooper sweetheart 10 days ago without knowing she had a fatal blood disease, died last night with her husband at her bedside.

Evidence that Marie Chylak was suffering from leukemia turned up in a state-required blood test two weeks before her wedding. Doctors said she was dying.

Her husband, a state policeman at the Bedford, Pa., barracks, was told of the situation and insisted on going through with the wedding. Marie was never told the nature of her illness. She collapsed while on her wedding trip.

VETO OPPOSED

CLEVELAND (AP) — City Council at its March 1 meeting is expected to override Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze's veto last night of a 5 per cent pay raise for firemen and policemen. Celebrezze is opposed to the boost because other city employes got only a 3 per cent hike. A large percentage of council's 33 members favor the greater increase for the two groups, however.

Jury Can't Agree In Suit for Libel

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A Superior Court jury that heard the 10-month trial of actor Michael Jeffers' libel suit against the Screen Extras Guild has been dismissed after five days of fruitless deliberation.

The long deliberations of the 10 women and two men jurors were interrupted when Jeffers' attorney asked that they be dismissed and that Superior Judge George A. Dockweiler decide the case. The judge declined to do so. He dismissed the jury yesterday.

Jeffers asked $200,000 damages on the ground that a guild newsletter charged he was "part of the Commie-influenced Conference of Studio Unions" and damaged his ability to find employment.

Jeffers' lawyer said he will move for another jury trial.

Berlin Concessions Could Lead to War

Big Four Fear Upset in Power Balance

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two tigers moved up close to examine each other again, and again they withdrew to watch and wait and sharpen their claws.

That may be the historians' description of the Berlin meeting, which began Jan. 25 and ends this week, between the Big Four foreign ministers.

Three of them from the West—United States' Dulles, Britain's Eden, France's Bidault—have talked four weeks with Russia's Molotov.

Neither side was expected to yield anything. Neither did. In that sense the meeting was not a disappointment.

But history may consider it a tragic disappointment if it turns out this was the last chance the Big Four had to settle their differences peacefully before World War III.

At Berlin the stumbling blocks were peace treaties for Germany and Austria, as they had been in one meeting after another since 1946.

This was only the latest in a series. The previous one was in September 1949. There may be others in the years to come.

If that's so, then this one, in spite of the attention it attracted now, may wind up as only a tiny footnote in history.

At the time of the first breakdown over Germany and Austria this country and the rest of the West were practically unarmed; Russia was an arsenal.

Still, there was a balance between them: this country was no match for Russia in number of men under arms but this country had the atom bomb, which Russia didn't. The bomb was enough to discourage Russian attack in Europe.

In the years since 1946 both sides have built up their muscle, sharpened their claws, pushed and pulled and tested each other without locking in a full death struggle.

Communsim —

Russia clinched her hold on the satellites, grabbed Czechoslovakia (1948), rushed development of the atom and hydrogen bombs, achieving her first atomic explosion in 1949, her first hydrogen one in 1953. And the Chinese Communists took over all of China (1949).

At war's end the Communists, in Russia alone, ruled 200 million people. Now communism, Russian and Chinese, rules 800 million under a solid Red military alliance that stretches from central Europe and across Asia to the Pacific.

The West—

Under the threat of Russia the United States moved on from the atomic bomb to development of the hydrogen bomb and built up an atomic armory so vast it is beginning to put more reliance on atomic weapons, less on men.

The United States and Western Europe came out of the helplessness of their disarmament to new rearmament and formation of their own military alliance, the North Atlantic Pact (1949).

The tests—

When Russia threatened to gobble Greece and Turkey, former President Truman abandoned traditional American isolationism in peacetime by rearming them (1947). When Russia tried to force the Allies out of Berlin with a blockade (1948), this country smashed the blockade with the airlift.

When communism threatened impoverished Western Europe from within, this country helped it with Marshall Plan economic aid (1948). Communism tried another thrust with the invasion of South Korea (1950) but was blocked in a war that lasted three years, is not yet officially ended.

East and West grow steadily stronger. Neither, therefore, seems to think it necessary to yield anything. If either did, at Berlin, it might have been the first paving stone on the road to ruin, so tightly are the two sides balanced.

Now like two tigers, each capabale of uncorking sudden death, the two sides watch each other, each waiting for the other to jump or stumble or, perhaps, to die of indigestion.

CASH REGISTER FOUND

UPPER SANDUSKY — A cash register stolen from Jim Walter's Sohio service station here May 23, last year, was found Sunday in the Sandusky River at the Hehr bridge, northeast of here. Court Order Is Issued Against Pinball Seizure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Common Pleas Judge Joseph M Clifford has granted the first of what is believed will be a series of requests for orders temporarily prohibiting state Liquor Director Anthony A Rutkowski from seizing and destroying pinball machines in liquor spots.

Yesterday Judge Clifford granted injunctions to The Westerhaus Co, Inc, Chevoit (Hamilton County), The Marmet Distributing Co, Cincinnati, and Roy G Kerr, Toledo.

Westerhaus Attorney Isadore Topper said he expects other liquor spots to ask similar orders to prevent the liquor department from carrying out its recent threat to confiscate pinball machines in all places where liquor is sold after a Friday deadline

Omniscience

By George Sokolsky

I was up in Burlington, Vt. to do one of those pro and con jobs which is called a debate when, by staying too long after the session was over, I encountered the case of the learned Dr. Albert Einstein, who was described to me as a scientist and logician. It was intended that I should stand in awe before a scientist.

SOKOLSKY

To put the business on an understandable level, I said that to me he is an authority on Mozart and a violinist. When it comes to the kind of science with which he deals, I am silenced by my ignorance of the field.

It shocked them that I would not admit that because Dr. Einstein has won distinction in his particular trade, he is also an authority on American political institutions, constitutional law and kindred subjects concerning which his public remarks are not too bright.

I was attacked pretty hard by the group, which consisted mostly of students and one adult who sounded like a lawyer.

THEIR INSISTENCE was that I must venerate this aged gentleman because he is a scientist, that he gave this country the atom bomb, and that he was sound when he advised scientists to refuse to testify before congressional committees, which, I believe, one or two did, mentioning Einstein as their authority.

Whereupon I said that this gentleman, Einstein, was persecuted in his own country, was driven from it by Hitler, found sanctuary among us, was given here every opportunity to ply his trade, art and science, and that the least he could do would be to avoid interfering in our affairs beyond his knowledge, understanding and competence.

I also said that I did not believe that an adult could settle in a country not his own, ground himself in its national traditions, absorb the meaning of its institutions and become assimilated in its society. I mentioned some well known exceptions such as Carl Schurz and Jacob Riis.

THE GIST of all this is the thought that because a man is a scientist or a university professor that he, for some reason, stands apart from the rest of us poor guys; that scientists constitute some kind of an elite who are to be worshipped even when they step out of their specialties and discuss subjects about which it is obvious from the context that they know nothing.

It is like the two Kinsey books on human relations which the zoologist, Kinsey, prepared to establish the materialistic basis of the institution of marriage and the morals of family life and came up with an ugly, mechanistic distortion of all that is beautiful and noble in the relations between man and woman.

It is surprising that the sociologists union did not resist Kinsey's invasion of its field. Since all this Kinsey business, I have received considerable mail indicating that perversion is normal and that what the human race has long regarded as morality is unusual and abnormal and a camouflage for indecency.

This I am supposed to accept as final because it is based on premises growing out of a small sampling of men and women by a scientist who is also a university professor.

ONE COLUMNIST wrote a series of articles which I read attentively and which seemed to me to be a defense of perversion based on so-called scientific studies.

The dogmatism of the scientists puts the dogmatism of the theologians to shame. For whereas the theologians admit that some things have to be taken on faith and that some have no greater authority than revelation by God to man, the scientists seem to say that if it is written by qualified persons and is printed in the books, it is right until a new book is written saying the contrary.

It is like the argument about the fat and the skinny. Just now the vogue runs to curves.

We are all more or less dogmatic, and who am I not to admit to such a characterization! But the moral of this tale is not dogmatism; it is that refugees who have found sanctuary in our land ought to be grateful for their advantage and ought not to spoil it for others by acting so contrary to our institutions that public opinion is aroused against all aliens.

You can't bite the hand that gave you a break without arousing resentment.

PAYROLL TO BE CUT

CINCINNATI (AP)—John W. Macy, executive secretary of the Civil Service Commission in Washington said here yesterday the Eisenhower administration is reducing the number of federal employes by 350,000. Some 200,000 fewer employes are on the pay rolls now than were last year. Another 150,000 will be dropped for the next fiscal year. The number of federal employes then will number 2,200,000, Macy said.

Schrier said three or four organizations are expected to turn in collections in the near future. Several other organizations have scheduled benefit dances or parties during the next few weeks.

Collections in a recent porchlight campaign, chairmaned by Mrs. Ralph White, brought in $1,534.

Youthful Motorist Cited By State Highway Patrol

Only one traffic citation was reported today by the Marion post of the state highway patrol.

Two 17-year-old Columbus youths were stopped Sunday afternoon by patrolmen. From that time until last night, both youths were held at the Marion County jail. Neither boy had a drivers license, so it was not possible to allow them to drive home, officers reported. The owner of the car and one of the mothers came for them last night. One was given a citation for driving without an operator's license and scheduled for Juvenile Court at a later date.

Wooing Labor

By Victor Riesel

President Eisenhower has decided to woo the nation's labor leaders.

To accomplish this, the general has given orders to the Republican party's congressional whips as blunt and specific as any he issued to Army aides during his military career.

RIESEL

The chief executive told the Republican whips to write a law — and get it passed — revamping the Taft-Hartley Act considerably along lines urged by the national union chiefs.

The White House dispatched these orders to the Hill on Feb. 3. The next day the Republican congressional high command unmilitarily argued the point. Last to hold out was House Labor Committee chairman Sam McConnell representative from Pennsylvania. By Monday, he too came out of the trenches.

THE FIGHT was over. Ike's orders stood — write a law amending Taft-Hartley. Do what you will with the suggestion for a strike vote before or after the pickets hit the streets. But get a new labor law on the books before summer.

There will, of course, be amendments which the labor leaders will continue to fight — but they will get their basic demands. These changes will give industry the shivers, for they are the very ones industry would have surrendered it all to keep.

Mr. Eisenhower told his whips to go right down the line he traced in his special mid-January message except for the strike vote.

This meant that the proposed law would relax the restrictions on what's known in the trade as the secondary boycott. This is a labor technique best described in a recent case in the Missouri Supreme Court involving the picketing of the Anheuser-Busch brewery property.

-:-

The brewery was picketed by the AFL Machinists Union, which wanted a clause in its contract preventing the beer company from dealing with firms which hire members of another union. In this case, the other union used by other companies was the AFL Millwrights. The AFL Machinists claimed the work for their union, arguing that the Millwrights were poaching on their territory. So the Machinists said to the Anheuser-Busch brewery, we want you to agree not to be serviced by, or to purchase from, any contractor who deals with Millwrights on work which we believe should go to us.

-:-

THE COMPANY refused. The Machinists threw up picket lines preventing trucks and trains from rolling into the plant.

That was on April 7th. A court removed the pickets. The case went through higher courts until the state's supreme bench ruled against the Machinists just the other day—by calling the strike a secondary boycott.

There are scores of other types of secondary boycotts, extremely powerful labor weapons, now restricted by the Taft-Hartley law. Mr. Eisenhower, in his message, asked that these restrictions be eased. Comes the conflict.

The President also wants the automatic government injunction eliminated. Under today's laws the courts, if appealed to, must automatically issue an order preventing picketing in clear cases of secondary boycotts, in certain kinds of sympathy strikes, in refusal by one union to work or handle goods in order to help another union or, in some instances, in strikes for union recognition.

Ike also recommended the settling of national emergency strikes, such as in coal, steel or the atomic energy supply plants, by emergency boards. Industry wants swifter and tougher handling.

SO THERE HAVE been business protests to the White House. But Mr. Eisenhower's order stands. Ike's advisers have convinced him to be tough in this case because he was forced to change his mind on another pledge to labor.

Labor Secretary James Mitchell told the last CIO convention that the unions could expect an increase in the federal minimum wage laws from 75 cents an hour. Later Ike's economic braintrust warned him off this during this "soft economic" period.

To make up for reversing on this, Ike wants the changes in Taft-Hartley he suggested last month. He believes that enough Republican congressional votes, added to Democratic tallies, can put over his labor program.

As Mr. Dooley would say: "It'll be a divil of a fight."

Big Operation

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

The bootlegger is enjoying boom times in America again.

He's getting to be a big operator, just as he was in prohibition days. He is able to put up $25,000 to $60,000 for a still that will turn out a thousand gallons of alcohol a day.

HAL BOYLE

He has new lists of suckers eager to buy his cases of "smuggled" scotch or Canadian whisky at cut-rate prices. He is again using counterfeit labels and tax stamps on a big scale.

—:—

MAYBE NO ONE has offered you a bargain basement buy in moonshine lately, but the liquor industry says moonshine is being sold in parking lots, candy stores, gas stations, cigar stores, and by telephone. It says the bootleggers have henchmen working in hotels, apartment houses, business buildings and industrial plants all over the United States.

The post-war rise of the bootlegger has the regular liquor industry more than annoyed. It is so angry it is considering hiring it own agents and lawyers to track down bootleggers and help the government convict them.

RALPH HEYMSFELD, 42, president of Schenley's and a spokesman for the industry, feels the government isn't doing enough to wipe out the problem.

"Moonshine has a romantic history. The hillbilly moonshiner is part of our folklore. We're not worried about him.

"But we are concerned about the big operators who have moved into the cities. No one can say for sure how much illegal whisky is being sold. But I say you can go anywhere in New York—or any other major city—and buy bootleg whisky within 10 minutes. Anybody who wants it can get it. The supply equals the demand."

HEYMSFELD SAID the distilled spirits industry paid $1,840,850,650 in federal and state taxes in 1953, roughly $13.25 a gallon, but that the government spent less than six-tenths of one per cent of this revenue to enforce the liquor laws.

"Most bootleggers get suspended sentences," he added. "Only a third are sent to jail. The courts simply aren't doing the job.

"Curiously, the government concentrates its campaign against bootlegging in the Southern states but the bootleg industry actually is flourishing in every section of the country.

"They seize 20,000 stills a year, but the amount of bootlegging isn't going down. We say it's increasing."

—:—

HEYMSFELD THINKS bootlegging could be cut down if the taxes on legal liquor were lowered, thus permitting it to be sold more cheaply. But he doesn't believe there is much real prospect of getting the taxes lowered.

"The only way left to meet the moonshine menace is by stricter enforcement," he said. "We are considering setting up a number of pilot operations in which, in cooperation with government officials, the liquor industry can protect itself against bootleggers, just as banks hire Pinkerton guards to protect themselves."

He wouldn't go into the details of his program, but he was hopping mad. He left no doubt that the legal liquor industry is tired of paying all the taxes and taking all the worries, while the bootlegger ducks the taxes and reaps the big profits.

Agricultural Service Reports Increase in Production of Milk

Milk production in Marion County has increased considerably in the past several months, Agricultural Extension Service officials reported today.

It seems to be a general trend over most of the state, they said, and will result in lowering of blend prices.

Feed costs will probaby be somewhat lower in 1954 while labor, equipment and supplies will remain relatively high, officials predicted.

615 Cows on DHI Test

A total of 615 cows, over 100 more than in January last year, were on Dairy Herd Improvement test in Marion County the past month.

The cows came from 31 herds and compared to 466 cows from 28 herds on test in January, 1953. Forty-four per cent of the cows on test, numbering 270, produced 40 pounds or more of butterfat the past month while 50 per cent, or 231 cows, produced that amount in January, 1953.

The number of cows on Owner-Sampler testing declined last month in comparison with the same month in 1953. A total of 21 herds, made up of 347 cows, were on this testing program last month. One hundred and eight cows, produced 40 pounds or more of butterfat. The figure compared to 24 herds, consisting of 355 cows, on test in January, 1953.

Leading Herds

Herds producing an average of 40 pounds or more of butterfat the past month under Dairy Herd Improvement testing included those of William Earl, whose herd of 19 cows produced an average of 1,774 pounds of milk and an average of 63 pounds of butterfat; Paul Lawrence and Sons, 39 cows, 1,434 pounds of milk and 55 pounds of butterfat; George Earl, 26 cows, 1,410 pounds of milk and 54 pounds of butterfat; W. R. Brooks, 30 cows, 1,406 pounds of milk and 52 pounds of butterfat; Richard Lawrence, 23 cows, 1,273 pounds of milk and 47 pounds of butterfat; E. H. Burris, 23 cows, 1,303 pounds of milk and 45 pounds of butterfat; Marlow Zachman, 22 cows, 1,210 pounds of milk and 43 pounds of butterfat; Loren Fulton, nine cows, 1,150 pounds of milk and 41 pounds of butterfat; Frank Ruth, 23 cows, 1,130 pounds of milk and 41 pounds of butterfat; Harold Seiter, 23 cows, 1,190 pounds of milk and 40 pounds of butterfat; Z. C. Kline, 45 cows, 1,071 pounds of milk and 40 pounds of butterfat; and Ed Parrott, three cows, 800 pounds of milk and 40 pounds of butterfat.

Herds on Owner - Sampler testing which averaged 40 pounds or more of butterfat were those of John Isler, seven cows, 1,326 pounds of milk and 52.5 pounds of butterfat; Alfred Laucher, 17 cows, 1,436 pounds of milk and 47.2 pounds of butterfat; and Emmett Beckel, 13 cows, 906 pounds of milk and 41 pounds of butterfat.

Judge Called on To Rule On Ownership of $700

DENVER (AP)—A Denver man today claimed ownership of $700 found at the Mile High Kennel Club last Aug. 25 because of the rubber band around the money.

Arthur Buxton told Denver County Court the rubber band "is unique in that it is used solely by the Air Force," by which he is employed.

However, Jerome E. Rosenblit, also of Denver, also claimed ownership of the money. The dog track has asked the court for a decision.

Galion Council Discusses Site For Baseball

GALION — City Council, Tuesday night, was asked for either a lease or a loan of ground from the city for a site for a diamond for Little League baseball in Galion.

The appeal, made by Paul Nollen, William MacAdam, and Al McConnell, for a site on N. Jefferson St. adjacent ot Heise park, was received by Council and referred to the committees of public property and parks, playgrounds and recreation. The site is west of the old city waterworks and has been used as a garden spot by nearby residents, McConnell explained the benefits of Little League baseball, and the need for a diamond where the youngsters could practice by themselves five nights a week.

Nollen also told councilmen that the Galion Chamber of Commerce is now working on plans for beautification program for the city. He said that suggestions have been made that some of the new streets have a plan for tree planting, whereby all residents on the street would plant the same kind of tree, the same distance apart, and same distance in from the curb, for effect. He said the committee for the beautification had other plans for parks, reservoirs and playgrounds as well as for other spots in the city.

Councilman William Amick of the park committee told of preliminary steps being made for improvement of Heise park swimming pool. He said that he had conferred with a representative of a construction company at which time it was estimated that the improvement would cost $10,000-12,000. It was also stated by Mayor Francis C. Schalip that at least two other companies will be here this week to talk over proposed plans for improvement of the pool.

Regarding Galion's electric light distribution improvement program, Councilman Gerald Bonnard explained that another conference is being planned for the near future between representatives of the Ohio Edison Co., suppliers of supplemental power for the city, and Emery, Marker and Emery, consulting engineering firm of Toledo.

Council suspended the rules to pass only one ordinance, repealing Ordinance 3119 appropriating property for waterworks needs of the city. The ordinance had been passed late last year as a step toward securing ground from the Powers' estate which was being held up by one of the heirs who had refused to sign off. It was not necessary to put the ordinance into effect as a clear title to the land was later secured.

Council received a petition from property owners for a street light on Carmel Ave., and a protest from Mr. and Mrs. John Bonen, on street assessments for the S. Boston St. improvement.

Council was asked to assemble at 7:30 p.m. on March 2 when financial problems of the city will be discussed with City Auditor Gloyd Frye.

Maybe that depression is here after all. A couple of weeks have gone by without somebody coming out with a new diet for the average man to get skinny on.

JACKIE HANSEN, 18, White Plains, N.Y., wipes a tear of joy from her eye after being chosen queen of the 25th annual New York Press Photographers ball, to be held March 12. The competition grouped behind her looks mighty competitive.

Pastor of Wesley Church To Present Talks on Marriage

Using the "contributions of psychology and religion" and his experiences in 25 years as a pastor and a U. S. Air Force chaplain, Rev. W. Lincoln Stafford of Wesley Methodist Church will give his lecture on "How To Be Happy Though Married" to three organizations of the church this week and next.

He will address the Victory Class Saturday night at the Frank Eyster home at 396 Olney Ave. On Monday night he will talk to the Crusaders Class at the Joseph Benedict home at 413 Olney Ave., and on the following Saturday night the Pathfinders Class at the Donald Preuninger home at 277 Marion Ave.

"Personal counseling is one of the best and longest - lasting contributions a pastor can make," he said. Among questions he will discuss are "How can we avoid in-law trouble? What are the chief complaints we hear from husbands about their wives? How do wives complain about their husbands? Does the old 'jealousy trick' work? Can we control falling in or out of love? How can we increase married love? How can we avoid quarrels over money? Why do people nag?"

During his three years as an Air Force chaplain, 1942-1945, he had an opportunity to counsel with thousands of service men concerning varied problems, including their marriage problems and for a number of years through his ministry he has made extensive study of psychology and allied subjects which he applies to demonstate his belief that by education and counseling "many marriages that would otherwise be broken can be saved and thousands of couples that believe themselves to be normally happy can be made much happier."

Once again, we're sorry, but it's too much to ask us to laugh at our own and the TV comedian's income-tax difficulties at the same time.

Scioto County Seeking State Aid on Traffic

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A Scioto County delegation today had the assurance of state aid in rebuilding some city streets to cope with atomic age traffic.

The delegation met with John J. Heier, a deputy state highway director, for nearly two hours to go over city projects which would speed traffic through Portsmouth and New Boston.

Heier told the delegation of 12 it could, in the next eight years, expect to spend about $2,400,000 in Portsmouth and $350,000 in New Boston on streets over which state highways pass. The figures include funds from all sources.

The city share would be 5 per cent of the construction costs and 25 per cent of the cost of land which must be purchased.

"The department gave us the fundamental principles to obtain our objectives," said Charles S. Stevenson, acting Portsmouth city manager, after the meeting. "It was a quite worthwhile meeting as we wanted to know how to proceed."

Heier told the delegation it would have to hire a consulting engineer before Oct. 1 to get the projects programed for the last half of next year.

"That's what we'll do," said Stevenson. Portsmouth now has proposals from two consulting engineers recognized by the highway department as being capable, he said. Hiring of an engineer is up to City Council.

The delegation asked state aid for 11th Street in Portsmouth which it wants to convert to U.S. 52. That street would be widened from Offnere Street to Washington to four lanes of traffic. It has been patched up for the last 30 years and Stevenson said trucks keep it in disrepair.

The New Boston part of the project would make Gallia Avenue westbound U.S. 52 and Rhodes Avenue eastbound U.S. 52.

Later on, Portsmouth plans other projects at its extreme east and west ends.

"The Portsmouth Area atomic plant has doubled or trebled traffic through Portsmouth because so many people working there drive through the city to and from work," Stevenson said. "Friday and Saturday afternoons you can hardly get through the streets."

Included in the delegation were Mayor Vernal Rife of New Boston, Scioto County Engineer Carson Barklow, John Irwin of the Portsmouth Automobile Club, and Edward Glockner of the Portsmouth Chamber of Commerce highway committee.

Navy officers are ordered to don swords for formal wear, and already we can assume that the plans have been microfilmed and are on their way to Russia.

4 Youths Rescued From Steep Hillside By Police, Firemen

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (AP) — Potters on the West Virginia side of the Ohio River had to signal police on the Ohio side last night to rescue four boys stuck on the side of a 500-foot hill.

The boys, Keith Cunningham 12; Charles Poole, 12; Albert McGuire, 11, and John Glover, 11, all from East Liverpool, finally were brought down by firemen using ropes and a ladder truck.

Searching for a cave, the boys climbed about halfway down the incline overlooking the busy East Liverpool-Weelsville, W. Va. highway. Then they found it too steep to descend further or to climb back up.

Potters at the Homer Laughlin China Co. in Wellsville across the river later noticed the faint glow of their waving flashlight and summoned police.

Because of the steepness of the cliff, however, the officers couldn't spot the boys and a signal system was devised. The potters set fire to a newspaper when police were under the youths. Then firemen were called to bring them down.

There were nearly four million births in the United States in 1953

Under Point 4 we might be able to apply American know-how, obtained during the great potato surplus, to the problems of the African village that has too may hippopotami. Still, dyeing them purple might not help.

Arrests Increase, Report Notes

Chief of Police Lists Accomplishments In Department, Recommends Changes

A record high in the number of arrests was marked up during 1953 by city police.

In an annual report of department activities, accomplishments and future plans, Police Chief Thomas B. Coon notes there were 3,117 arrests last year compared with 2,719 for 1952.

The report lists accomplishments of the department and several recommendations of Chief Coon for bettering, and enlarging the department.

Chief accomplishment listed was an increase in the size of the department from 29 members to 36, consisting of the chief, four captains, 29 patrolmen and two clerks.

ANOTHER WAS a police training school conducted in cooperation with the FBI last spring and attended by city police, state highway patrolmen, guards from the Marion training school and police from Delaware and Galion. Instruction was given in all phases of police work including use of firearms.

In June and July, the report notes, the police department offices were remodeled to make room for a records and identification bureau and to provide for a squad room where officers could make out reports.

"In line with the establishment of this bureau, the record system of the police department is being revamped to coordinate activities of the department," Coon said. Such a bureau is a necessary part of a modern police department and statistics gathered will form a basis for more selective enforcement, Coon added.

ANOTHER ACCOMPLISHMENT was establishment of the School Safety Patrol program at the beginning of the current school year. In cooperation with the Marion Auto Club, the patrol was organized with 300 members. Acting as a safeguard for school children, the patrol has succeeded in preventing any traffic accidents involving children pedestrians near schools.

Organized during the year also were the auxiliary police and mobile rescue teams, both a part of the State Mobile Support Group of the Ohio Civil Defense Corps. The auxiliary police group has 15 members and the rescue team 10.

Other accomplishments listed by Coon were adoption of a new traffic violations and citation form, establishment of a chain warning device to help reduce the number of bad checks passed in the city, publication of a new book of rules regulations and instruction for patrolmen, and start of preparation of a new police switchboard to handle more incoming telephone calls.

MAJOR RECOMMENDATIONS for bettering the department calls for increase of personnel from the present 36 to a total of 46 and a reorganization of the police force into "separate units, each to perform one or more of the primary, auxiliary, or administrative duties of the department."

The reorganization would provide for a chief, an inspector, four captains, six sergeants, 32 patrolmen, and two clerks. The addition of the inspector and six sergeants would be new. According to the plan, the inspector would be second in command, and the sergeants would have rank status.

Further, the reorganization calls for establishment of a detective bureau to provide better coverage of the city.

IN ASKING FOR more personnel, Chief Coon pointed out that that the FBI lists the national average of police employed in cities at 1.78 for each 1,000 population. To meet the average Marion would need 60 policemen, Coon said.

He listed 10 changing conditions in the city which have affected law enforcement. Among them are more educated and speedier criminals, influx of new industries, new laws, increase in automobile and truck registrations, heavier traffic, location of the Marion Training School near the city, and the trend of businesses to locate on the edge of the city.

Other recommendations included a request for salary raise for all policemen, an allowance for uniforms, provision of lockers for each policeman, expanded office space, replacement of radio equipment, replacement of a two-wheel motorcycle presently inoperative with a three-wheel model, and provision of a car designated specifically for the use of the police chief.

IN THE ROUTINE sections of the report on arrests, investigations, and other police activities for the year, Chief Coon, noted that burglaries and thefts showed the largest increase of all crimes during the year.

Burglary arrests jumped from a total of 3 for 1952 to 34 last year and thefts, excepting automobile thefts, increased from 29 to 59. Persons charged with auto theft increased from 10 to 15.

Most numerous of all the lesser law violations during the year was intoxication. Last year 929 persons were arrested on drunkeness charge, up 129 from the total for 1952.

Most other offenses remained about the same for the two years with some showing slight decline in number of arrests. These were from 45 to 28; offenes against family and children, down from 35 to 28, drunken driving, down from 107 to 93 and embezzlement and fraud, down from nine to two arrests.

—:—

DURING THE YEAR, police issued a total of 16,937 traffic tickets and collected a total of $9,579 from them. Of these, 11,875 were tickets issued for parking meter violations and 4,549 were issued for overtime parking.

Farm Bureau To Receive Bids On New Grain Elevator March 1

Bids for the new Farm Bureau Cooperative's Marion grain elevator will be awarded at the association's board of directors' meeting Monday evening, March 1, board chairman Walter Mautz announced today. Deadline for bids is noon, March 1.

State and city officials have approved blueprints for the building and almost all preliminaries have been completed, Marion Farm Bureau manager George Schertzer said. Construction will start early in March and the building is to be completed in September.

To be constructed on the north side of Bellefontaine Ave. adjoining the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, the building will consist of three mains sections, a warehouse, grain elevator and mill.

The grain elevator, 20 by 30 feet, will have a 6,000 bushel storage capacity. Included in the mill, also 20 by 30 feet, will be modern grinding and mixing equipment. The warehouse will be 36 by 108 feet.

Grain will be received in two driveways with three dump-sinks. Large capacity corn-shelling equipment also will be housed in the building.

The building will be constructed on seven acres of land owned by the co-op since 1945 and will have 600 feet of railroad siding off of the C&O main line.

Consolidation of all Marion Farm Bureau operations on the Bellefontaine site is hoped for, Schertzer said. The petroleum department's bulk plant already is located there. Present business offices are located at 175 Park Blvd.

The old Farm Bureau elevator was destroyed by fire last summer.

Control of NYC Railroad At Stake in Proxy Battle

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The sap of belligerency is rushing the spring season in the corporate world A record crop of personal business donnybrooks seems sure to burgeon at annual stockholder meetings in coming weeks.

Titans and would be titans of industry are sharpening horns The prizes Some luscious charmers in the financial and business world

The contestants either avowed or named against their will Robert R Young and the House of Morgan with the Vanderbilts past and present, dragged in for good measure,

Howard Hughes and his critics Buck Dumaine and Patrick B McGinnis, plus assorted Canadians

The White boys—William of New York Central, and Francis W of American Woolen—the latter pitted against various less than admiring stockholder groups

And even in a sense those old feudists of 90 years standing the Yanks and the Southerners—each trying to win the affections of the textile industry,

The railroad textile and movie worlds are the favored fields for dissension at the moment But these things have a way of spreading And the spirit of strife seems likely to spill over into all redsl likely to spill over into all fields when the stockholders foregather

Some of the reasons Growing competition and falling sales turn the spotlight on management policies records and abilities, and when dividends are threatened the stockholders tend to roar like a bull moose charging a diesel locomotive

The stockholder battles and the glittering generals in command are

New York Central Robert R Young a little man who has always performed in a big way wants stockholders in May to name him a director and chairman of the board He says the Central, which pays $1 a year in dividends ought to pay is high as $10 Last year it earned $3 27 a share

William White Central president says Young's record as head of the Chesapeake & Ohio wasn't so hot Young says the House of Morgan really runs the Central a contention denied by Henry C Alexander, president of J P Morgan & Co. The Vanderbilts get in the act because Commodore Vanderbilt fathered the railroad and his great-grandson Harold S, is a director.

RKO Pictures Multi millionaire Howard Hughes is the principal stockholder and wants to be the only one Some other stockholders, including two directors who resigned Saturday think Hughes isn't running the movie company right—in spite of his record for discovering busy actresses

Next month stockholders will vote on Hughes offer to buy all the stock

New Haven Railroad Frederick C (Buck) Dumaine Jr, president and Patrick B McGinnis New York financier are scheduled to go before the rest of the stockholders in April to fight for control of the New England railroad Congress has been asked to investigate charges that Canadian interests are backing McGinnis to gain control of a road that should belong to the people of New England

American Woolen Sectionalism is even more in evidence here White proposes to sell some of American Woolen's mills in New England Aroused by the growth of the textile industry in the South some belligerent Yankee stockholders are fighting it Royal Little Textron Inc's head offers to merge the two textile companies by a stock exchange and a New York syndicate offers to buy up American Woolen's common stock Some stockholders plan a fight at the annual meeting in March

Instructive Boy Friend Finds Police Cooperative

AUBURN, Ind (AP)—Richard E Roberson 18 Fort Wayne told the state trooper who arrested him yesterday that he was showing his girl friend how drivers get into trouble with police

Trooper H E Austin said in a six-mile stretch he saw Roberson's car in the wrong traffic lane four times and off the pavement three times

Roberson will get a chance Feb 24 to show his girl what drivers who get arrested for reckless driving tell the judge

FREE AFTER 46 YEARS. Herbert Spring (right) 67 shakes hands with Warden Joseph Ragen at the gates of Stateville state prison in Joliet Ill a free man for the first time in 46 years In 1907 Spring killed a woman in Freeport Ill while firing a pistol in drunken exuberance Sentenced to life imprisonment he escaped briefly in 1919 and 1920 For years he's tended the flower garden at the prison Now the man who had only one visitor in all that time flying to Alaska where he has a job waiting

Judge Is Unimpressed By Plea of Defendant

SOMERVILLE Mass (AP)—A 45 year-old laborer told a District Court judge Monday that he wasn't drunk as a policeman charged—it was his shoes that were tight

He displayed a pair of new shoes and told the judge It's these new shoes They hurt me so much I couldn't walk straight

Judge Nyman F Kolodny noted his record of 12 previous arrests for drunkenness and fined him $15

Man With Broken Neck Settles for X-Ray Treatment

MEMPHIS Tenn (AP)—Ben Hayes who left City Hospital because he figured an X-ray was the only treatment he needed for his broken neck, was in fair condition today

Hayes 34 - year - old Negro checked in at the hospital Monday complaining of arm and shoulder pains The X-ray showed a fractured vertebra in the neck.

But when a doctor hurried to tell Hayes he had left Officers couldn't find his rural home A doctor warned any sudden jolt could cause permanent injury A search was started

Yesterday his sister read a story saying he should go to the hospital immediately Hayes returned explaining to attendants he thought the X-ray was 'treatment' enough and saw no reason to hang around

He broke his neck Monday in a tumble from his porch

Ike Proposes Sharing Atomic Data

Highlights of Capitol Hill Legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower sends Congress a special message outlining a program to give more atom energy information to American business and to European allies.

INDOCHINA—After hearing secret testimony from Under Secretary of State Walter B. Smith and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, senators on the Foreign Relations Committee say Eisenhower has promised to consult Congress before acting in any crisis which might involve sending U. S. troops to Indochina.

—:—

STRATEGY — Sen. Jackson (D-Wash) demands an Armed Services Committee probe of whether the Joint Chiefs approve the administration's "new look" policy —trimming ground forces and relying more on air power and new weapons for "massive retaliation" against possible enemy attack. Jackson says there are signs the chiefs don't like this strategy. Committee Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass) invites Jackson to sit in next time the chiefs testify.

—:—

TREATY POWERS—Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) says that if the Senate turns down his proposed constitutional amendment on treaty powers he'll back a substitute offered by Sen. George (D-Ga). The prospect of a joining of Bricker and George forces seems like the biggest threat to administration leaders seeking a compromise amendment acceptable to Eisenhower.

—:—

JOBLESS—Sen. Douglas (D-Ill) a onetime professor of economics, says new government statistics revising unemployment estimates upward help prove his view that America already is in a recession.

TAXES—House Ways and Means Committee Republicans are reported planning early action to cancel scheduled drops in corporation income and excise taxes, but to approve new cuts on some other excises. Part of their strategy: to help offset Democratic charges that their tax revision program doesn't give enough benefits to the average citizen.

Annual Farm Bureau Meeting Slated Feb. 26

The annual meeting of the Marion Farm Bureau Cooperative Association will be held Friday, Feb. 26 at 8 p.m. in the Claridon school, Farm Bureau manager George Shertzer said Tuesday.

Members will be given a complete breakdown on the association's 1953 financial picture and plans for the new Farm Bureau building will be discussed.

Heads of four Ohio Farm Bureau divisions will report on their departments. The speakers will be Walter See, grain division; Richard Cochran, feed division; Art Adams, machinery division and Roland Leeper, farm crops.

Mrs. Charles Mautz, accordionist, will entertain and refreshments will be served.

State Highway Patrol Occupies New Quarters

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The state Department of Highway Safety and the State Highway Patrol moved today into new quarters on Columbus' near East Side.

The department and patrol will occupy a three-story remodeled dormitory at the old state school for the blind. School personnel recently moved to a new building on the northern outskirts of Columbus.

The state Bureau of Motor Vehicles, a part of the highway safety department, will remain in its present location.

FINED AT GALION

GALION — A state highway patrol case in Galion Monday night before Mayor Francis C. Schalip, resulted in a fine of $15. and costs of $4.70 for William E. McCartney, 25, of Bucyrus. He pleaded guilty to a charge of exceeding the speed limit. He was stopped by state highway patrolmen of the Bucyrus division.

Motion pictures on safety are being shown Marion school pupils this week by Patrolman D. L. Everly of the Marion police department.

Entitled "The Safety Patrol" and "On Two Wheels," the films graphically illustrate safety as applied to school children either walking or riding bikes. They were obtained from the General Motors Co. film library in Detroit through the Midtown Chevrolet Co. in Marion.

Students at Silver Street, Oakland Heights, Oak, and North Main Street Schools saw them Monday and Tuesday. Today they were shown to a second group at Silver Street School and at George Washington School. Tomorrow and Friday they will be shown at Edison Junior High School, Pearl Street, Vernon and St. Mary Schools.

Baltimore Firm Is Low on Pike Plans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The J. E. Greiner Co. of Baltimore was the apparent low bidder Tuesday for preparing detailed plans for the proposed 540-mile north-south turnpike.

That company, consulting engineers for the 240 - mile Northern Ohio Turnpike now under construction, bid $589,500 for plans on the proposed new turnpike network that would link Cincinnati, Toledo, the Columbus area, the Cleveland area, Conneaut and the Youngstown area.

The first section would run from Cincinnati to the Dayton - Springfield area, the second from Dayton-Springfield to the Columbus area. The third would go from Columbus to the Cleveland area, and the fourth from the Cleveland area to Conneaut. These are only suggested routes. The exact routes are to be selected after surveys.

The fifth section would begin at U. S. 40 somewhere between Columbus and Springfield and end at Toledo. The sixth section might begin north of Columbus and run to the Pennsylvania state line near Petersburg, to join up with the Pennsylvania Turnpike and the east-west Ohio turnpike.

Nobody Wants Railway

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — They couldn't even give the Camino, Placerville & Lake Tahoe Railroad away.

The eight-mile logging line was offered free by its owners to the Southern Pacific Co. but SP President D. J. Russell rejected it because new rails would have to be laid and curves would have to be straightened between Placerville and Camino, he said.

St. Mary Handed 73-54 Whipping at Fredericktown

Irish Attack Sputters, Falls Behind Early, Never Rallies

By JOHN SHORT

St. Mary's basketballers, playing their least impressive game in a three year span, were slapped 73-54 last night by a Fredericktown quintet, which literally ran the local squad off the court.

It was one of the worst whippings suffered by an Irish squad in the three years and probably the most unexplainable.

After four turnovers in the opening three minutes and seven in the first period the St. Mary team was never in the game. Wild, erratic passing, sloppy ball handling traveling and just about every other infraction in the book stopped the losers' offense.

Fans Amazed

Irish fans, who made the trip left the Knox County gym wondering just how good a team the winners had. The Irish, who did nearly everything wrong, failed for the first time this year to press their opponent and the Freddies coasted to the win.

Jim Tindall and Bill Frazier pumped in quick field goals at the start of the game to push the winners into a 5-0 lead before Mike Anderson finally scored for the Irish with nearly three minutes gone. The Freddies' two big guns continued their pace and the first period ended with St. Mary trailing 15-7.

The Irish continued to sputter in the second period while Tindall, with the help of Gary Rine, managed to hit consistently. St. Mary scored from the field twice and once from the foul line as Fredericktown wrapped up the verdict early. The score was 33-12 at the half.

Roger Michell managed to inject a little life into the Irish attack in the third period when he dumped in nine points to lead the team in a 17-point spurt. The effort was futile, however. At the same time, Tindall and Tom Rine were scoring 18 to preserve the Freddies' margin.

Change Defense

The final period saw the Irish shift into a man to man press in an effort to stall the Fredericktown attack but the game turned into a foul shooting contest. Sixteen violations, 10 in the last three minutes, were called. St. Mary lost Anderson with 2:17 to play and Jerry Ballenger followed with seven seconds left.

Leading the St. Mary attack was Michell with 17 points. Merchant followed with 14 while Ballenger chipped in with seven. Anderson and Johnny Messenger added six each. Tindall's 23 sparked the Freddies' offense while Frazier finished with 18 and Rine had 12.

St. Mary's usually reliable sharpshooters connected on only 21 of 70 shots from the field for a 30 per cent mark. Fredericktown tried only 62 shots but connected on 26 for a 42 per cent average. The winners added 21 of 36 charity throws while St. Mary picked up 12 of 24 free throws.

The St. Mary reserves took a 39-31 decision in the preliminary game. After holding a 6-5 edge at the end of the first frame, the little Irish increased their bulge to 21-14 at the half and led 34-21 at the beginning of the final frame.

Dick Michell shoved in 11 markers to show the way and Pat O'Connor and Dick Mounts each netted six. Benson was high for the winners with 12.

St. Mary will wind up its regular season Friday night at the Coliseum when it entertains Marysville's Monarchs. Following that game, the Irish will begin drills for play in the protest tournament next week at Westerville.

Byhalia, Union Take Openers In Tournament

RICHWOOD — Byhalia and Union barged into the semi-finals of the Union County basketball tournament last night with victories in the opening session at Marysville.

Byhalia upended seeded Northwestern, the county league champs, 44-43 while Union, the other seeded club, came through as expected. The runner-up in the past county league whipped Darby 59-48.

The wins moved both squads into action Thursday against bye teams. Byhalia will take on Richwood in the opener at 7 p.m. while Union will battle Magnetic Springs in the nightcap.

Northwestern and Darby will meet in one of the games Saturday while the other will pit the losers of Thursday night's tilts.

The Northwestern-Byhalia contest was close all the way with the winners holding on in the final period for the win.

Byhalia led 8-6 after the first quarter and 21-16 at halftime but the losers managed to trim the margin to 31-28 at the three-quarter mark.

Larry Lingrel led the Byhalia attack with 13 points while Kay Hutchins added 12 and McAllister hooped 11. Hayes Crum with 19 and George Steele with 17 paced the losers' offense.

Darby started off fast but then fizzled in the last three periods to bow before Union. The losers rolled to a 22-13 advantage in the opening period but couldn't maintain the pace. Darby maintained its lead at halftime, 32-25, but Union took command in the third stanza 42-40, and went on to win easily.

Harry Brooks dropped in 25 points for the winners while George Harbold added 11. Bill Griffith had 20 and Gene Blumenschein 16 for the losing Darby squad.

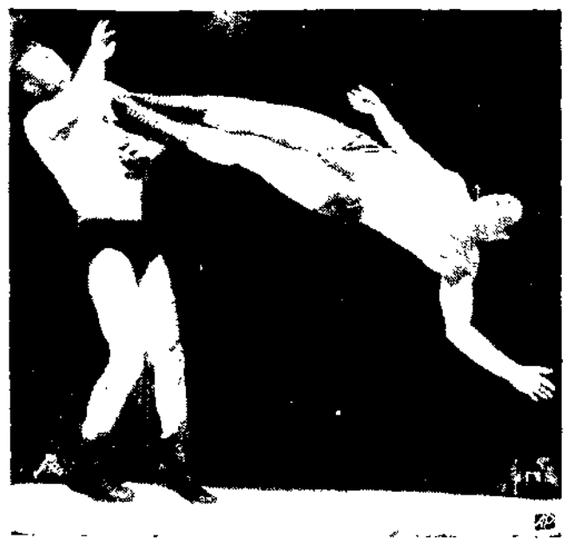
NEW FOES FOR WOLFPACK

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP)—North Carolina State's 1954 football schedule includes four new opponents—Virginia Tech, Furman, Richmond and Maryland. Dropped from the schedule were Davidson, Army, Pittsburgh and George Washington. The Wolfpack will take the field under a new head coach, Earle L. Edwards, former end coach at Michigan State. Edwards succeeds Horace Hendrickson who resigned.



HAIR-RAISING JOLT. Sky Hi Lee, 290-pound grappler from Toronto, Canada, has his hair standing on end as he absorbs a flying kick by Pat O'Connor, 230-pound New Zealand wrestler, during a semi-final match at Madison Square Garden in New York City. O'Connor was the winner in 14 minutes and 11 seconds.

Story Denied

Canadian Grid Coach Says Benzedrine Tablets Used

HAMILTON, Ont. (AP)—Bob Snyder, former coach of Calgary Stampeders of the Western Interprovincial Football Union, said it is "common knowledge" that players in Canadian football used benzedrine tablets to give them a "lift" during difficult schedule periods.

Carl Voyles, coach of the Grey Cup champion Hamilton Tigercats, retorted, "Snyder has said that before and it was proven to be a lot of bunk."

Snyder said in an interview last night that he was hired by the National Football League to acquaint United States college players about "the truth" of football conditions in Canada. He denied he had given an improper picture of Canadian playing conditions to the U.S. players.

"I simply told them the truth," Snyder said. "There were numerous wild stories attributed to me, but they weren't true."

Snyder said the U.S. players were surprised when he told them football stadia in western Canada weren't larger. He said they asked him how "they afford to pay such large salaries."

"I told them they played two games a week, on Saturdays and Mondays to make it up." Snyder said. That shocked them, especially when I told them that American players had to play both offense and defense. And there were only three Americans in the WIFU, Mac Speedie, Glen Dobbs and Frank Albert, who didn't play offense and defense. The rest did."

Snyder said he was amazed that many of the players had the stamina to stand the rough schedule. Then, he added, he discovered that some of them were using artificial means.

"In one game in Regina I saw some of my players taking pills," he said. "I didn't think anything of it. I thought they were harmless. On the way home one player told me 'I'll never take those bennys again.'"

Snyder said the player confided that "benneys" were benzedrine tablets.

Snyder added:

"The next thing I know Voyles is telling everybody that I said that all Canadian players take dope. I know at least one Hamilton player who told me he has been taking benzedrine tablets for every game since he came to Canada several years ago. It isn't any secret."

Frank Claire, coach of the Toronto Argonauts of the Big Four League commented in Toronto

"How silly can a fellow get. It's nonsense."

70-YEAR OLD STILL AT IT

LONDON (AP)—Bill Wilson celebrated his 70th birthday by trying out a few new wrestling holds on his pals at a London sports club. "And I hope to be still wrestling when I'm 80," he said. "I owe a lot to the sport." Wilson was crippled with arthritis 20 years ago and could not bend his knees. His doctors ordered him to take up wrestling. Wilson did and soon was completely cured.

Braves' Dittmer Agrees; Logan Continues Balk

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Shortstop Johnny Logan, somewhat surprised that his second-base buddy, Jack Dittmer, came to terms yesterday with the Milwaukee Braves, has no intention of doing the same.

"We're nowheres near what I want," he said after forcing himself to accept, under considerable persuasion, the word that Dittmer had reached an agreement by telephone with General Manager John Quinn.

"I should make a substantial salary," the aggressive shortstop went on. "I led the league in fielding the past two years and I should get paid for it."

Logan, who fielded .975 in 150 games last year and .972 in 117 the previous season to top all shortstops in the league, declined to say how much he wants this summer. He is believed, though to be demanding $20,000 with a fair chance of getting it. He's the only shortstop on the roster with the exception of aging Sibby Sisti.

Reluctant to believe that Dittmer had agreed to terms, Logan said, "There must have been quite a compromise by somebody." The two are close personal friends.

Dittmer, whose agreement left Logan the only brave regular out of the fold, probably will get about $10,000 this summer. He and Danny O'Connell, obtained by trade from Pittsburgh, will battle for the second-base berth.

National League's Rosters Jammed With Ohio Natives

CINCINNATI (AP)—Baseball talent springs from the farms and cities of Ohio, from hamlets of 25 to metropolitan centers like Cleveland.

Twenty natives of Ohio are on the rosters of National League clubs today.

The 1954 Green Book, edited by the National League's Service Bureau and just off the press shows nine of the native Buckeyes are Cincinnati Redlegs.

Besides personal data on each player compiled by service bureau manager Dave Grote, the book sets down batting averages and pitching records. Full of information that would add fuel to any hotstove league, the book is a potential best seller—except it isn't sold. The league sends it to sports writers broadcasters and baseball officials.

Five of the Ohio-born Redlegs are pitchers. They are Bob Kelly, born in Cleveland, who won 1 and lost 3 last year; Joe Nuxhall, Hamilton, 9-11; Herm Wehmeier, a Cincinnati product, 1-6, Moe Savransky, Cleveland, who was in military service last season, and Harold (Corky) Valentine, Troy, won 13 and lost 6 for Columbia.

Wally Post, born in St. Wendelin, a community of 25 in Mercer County, is in the Red outfield as are Bob Borkowski, Dayton, Jim Bolger, Cincinnati, and Joe Szekely, Cleveland.

Brooklyn, Chicago and St. Louis have signed three Buckeyes apiece. With the Dodgers are pitcher Ron Negray, Akron, infielder Don Zimmer, Cincinnati, and outfielder George Shuba, Youngstown. Pitchers Jim Brosnan, Cincinnati, and Don Elston of Campbellstown in Preble County and outfielder Frank Baumholtz of Midvale in Tuscarawas County report to the Cubs.

Harvey Haddix, ace St. Louis Cardinal pitcher who won 20 and lost 9 last season, was born in Midway (Clark County). The Cards also carry pitcher Eddie Yuhas, Youngstown, and catcher Del Rice, Portsmouth.

Pitcher Cal Hogue, Dayton, and catcher Vic Janowicz, Elyria, well known for his football exploits as an Ohio State back, are on the roster of the Pittsburgh Pirates.

While Ohio can be proud of its native sons — including Brooklyn manager Walter Alston—the state must bow to Pennsylvania, with 32; California with 31, Illinois 29 and New York 27. Missouri like Ohio, can count 20 National Leaguers on the 1954 rosters.

Mt. Gilead Closes With 15-3 Record

MT. GILEAD — Mt. Gilead concluded a 15-3 season with a 51-44 victory over Gambier last night and are awaiting action in the protest tournament at Westerville.

The winners dropped behind 15-10 in the opening period but came back to lead the rest of the way. Mt. Gilead led 26-22 at intermission and 35-30 after three quarters.

Ted Moody popped in 22 points for the winners. Dick Bailey hit for 13 and Roy Gorstuch added 12 for the losers.

Mt. Gilead's junior high squad notched a 36-33 win in the preliminary contest.

Claridon Nips Morral 49-48; Prospect Trims LaRue

Winners Meet for Crown Saturday; Caledonia Rolls

By IRV THOMAS

Claridon stunned Morral 49-48, and Prospect nipped LaRue 61-57, at the Coliseum Tuesday night to advance to the Marion County tournament finals while Caledonia ousted Green Camp, 52-36, in a consolation game.

A crowd of 2,435 fans, largest of the tournament thus far, saw Morral and LaRue lose their first games. Each plays in the consolation semi-finals Thursday night, LaRue meeting Waldo at 7:30 and Morral facing Caledonia at 8:45.

2 Games Saturday

The winners will clash Saturday night at 7:30 preceding the Prospect-Claridon game at 8:15.

Morral led only four times during the game, 1-0, 3-1, 12-11 and 16-15, but it took free throw in the final minute to preserve Claridon's victory.

Free throws by Larry Row and Gene Jessie put Claridon ahead 49-46 with 21 seconds to play and Junior Bell's jump shot wasn't enough as the winners stalled away the final 14 seconds.

Claridon now has won three straight tourney games, outscoring their opponents by only 13 points. Claridon has topped Meeker by five points, Caledonia by seven and Morral by one.

Bell and Gene Jessie took scoring honors with 18 points each. Gail Castle of Claridon was the only other player to hit double figure scoring 11.

After jumping to a 3-1 lead Morral went for five minutes without a field goal and trailed at the quarter, 9-5. The Wildcats went back into the lead at 12-11 but regular Claire Hensel fouled out with five minutes to play and Claridon with Gail Castle scoring 8 points moved to a 23-19 halftime lead.

Harassed by the Claridon zone defense, Morral scored only four field goals in the first half. The Wildcats made 11 free throws, 10 in a row.

Two field goals and a free throw by Bell tied the game 27-27, midway in the third period. Claridon moved ahead again as Jessie collected five points but Jim Shifflett's layin as the quarter ended knotted the score at 34-all.

Morral shifted to a man-to-man defense in the fourth quarter in an effort to stop the Claridon attack but Gail Row, Castle and Jessie hit from the field to put Claridon ahead for good. Although the Wildcats crept up to 42-41, 44-43, 46-45, 47-46 and 49-48, they couldn't get ahead.

Prospect trailed for almost three periods, going ahead first at 45-44 before finally subduing a hot-shooting LaRue quintet. LaRue leading by nine points at the half and by three after three quarters, ran out of scoring punch in the final period as three regulars fouled out.

Pair Foul Out

Gene Cooper and Larry Hickman, who had 16 and 8 points for LaRue, left with two minutes to play and Prospect ahead 60-56. Keith Cooper fouled out a minute later.

Tom Hickman and Bob Rodgers paced Prospect with 22 and 21 points while LaRue's Bob Hughes had 15 points, 12 in the second period.

Gene Cooper's eight-point burst and a close job of guarding on Rodgers by Ray Hosey showed LaRue off to an 18-12 first quarter lead.

With Hughes hitting from outside, LaRue increased its margin to 12 points in the second period but Hickman and Rodgers started connecting to cut the lead to 28-29 at halftime. Prospect pointed in the first six straight points midway in the third period to tie the game at 42-all.

From there on it was a see-saw game with LaRue moving ahead 49-46 in the quarter and Prospect going on foul shots at 52-50. The Raiders fouled out LaRue 1-8-8 in the last period.

Prospect played the game without regular Ron Wood who was sidelined with the flu. Wood who scored 15 points against Green Camp Friday, was replaced by Bob Ebert.

Louis cost Green Camp heavily as it slipped behind Caledonia for good when high-scoring Lou Finch was worked out early in the third period. Finch who scored 25 points against Prospect Friday, sat out part of the first half with three fouls and wound up with 8 points.

The jump-shooting of Gene Rice and a full-court press led to Green Camp's defeat. Rice took scoring honors with 18 points while Joe Donians pressed throughout the game causing Green Camp to fumble excessively.

Jack Green's 12 points led scoring for Green Camp while Caledonia's Doug Whiteamire followed Rice with 10 points.

Set-shooting by Green and Finch got Green Camp off to an early 9-2 lead which faded to 14-11 at the quarter. With Finch on the bench and Rice beginning to hit, Caledonia crept within two points at halftime, 24-22.

An 11-point outburst in the first 3 and a half minutes of the third quarter shoved the Donians into a 38-25 lead and they were ahead the rest of the game. Two field goals and three charity tosses brought Green Camp within three points at the quarter, 37-33. However the losers could connect on only two free throws in the final quarter while Caledonia was notching 15 points.

Henry Tangles With Slade in Ring Comeback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clarence Henry, hard-hitting light-heavyweight from Los Angeles, tackles the toughest assignment on his comeback trail tonight when he goes against Jimmy Slade of New York in a 10-round nationally televised bout.

The fight will be teletised by Columbia.

Henry went into semi-retirement after losing a bruising 15-round bout to Archie Moore, now the light-heavyweight champion, at Baltimore June 26, 1952. He has fought only twice since.

So far Henry has been unsuccessful in lining up a rematch with Moore.

The 26-year-old from Los Angeles has won 34 of 39 fights, 19 of them on knockouts, numbering among his victims such heavyweights as Bob Satterfield, Bob Baker and Jimmy Bivins. At one time, Henry was mentioned as a challenger to heavyweight champ Rocky Marciano.

Slade's last fight resulted in a disputed decision loss to Harold Johnson, the No. 1 challenger for Moore's title.

SCOUT MEETING SET

Pack 50 of the Boy Scouts will hold parents night meeting tonight at 8 p.m. in the K of C hall. The purpose of the meeting is to sign up new members. Upwards of 20 new cub scouts are expected to participate. District scout executives are expected to participate in the meeting. Pack 50 is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus.

New Dodge trucks load at knee-level, reduce effort

When you load a truck, the less lift the better.

That's why you'll appreciate the loading ease of new Dodge trucks. Floors of some low-tonnage models are less than 2 ft. from ground—practically knee-level. Loading's a lot less work!

Aged Movies Available On Film of Newer Size

WASHINGTON (UP) — Movies produced between 1894 and 1912 now may be seen on 16 mm film.

After six years of experiment a process has been developed whereby paper prints of the original films can be produced on 16-mm film

Films made from paper prints stored in the Library of Congress for more than 50 years were previewed at the Library and at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Hollywood recently These movies depict such historic events as troop movements during the Spanish American War and President McKinley's funeral films also were among those showing a speech shortly before his assassination Comedy and features of the old movies

Job Outlook Bright For College Grads

EVANSTON Ill (UP) — Job prospects continue bright for college graduates according to Northwestern University's eighth annual nationwide employment survey

Dr Frank S Endicott Northwestern's placement director said 216 large and medium-sized companies participating in the survey intend to hire 12 063 men from the 1954 graduating classes These same firms hired 11 599 men from 1953 graduating classes Endicott said

The increase is mostly in engineering and other technical fields he said The only significant increase in demand for non-technical personnel was in the sales field

This suggests that there now is occurring that leveling off in demand for non-technical men that was predicted in last year's survey Endicott said

But starting salaries for both groups still are climbing The average for engineers will be $345 a month and for most non-technical men about $315 Last year the two groups started at $325 and $300 respectively

The survey showed that college women will be recruited mostly for secretarial work and general training programs The average starting salary for those without technical training will be about $240 a month

Women chemists and technicians will receive an average starting salary of about $310 a month the survey showed

Grandmother Who Never Cooks Runs School for Chefs

NEW HAVEN Conn (UP) —The famous chefs are men but a woman who admits she's no cooking expert is teaching some of them kitchen know-how

Mrs Frances Roth a 57-year-old grandmother is head of the Culinary Institute of America From her kitchen classrooms come male cooks of rival the European chefs who long have dominated the industry

The fact that a woman is helping to train men as top chefs may be surprising But even more unusual is the fact that Mrs Roth doesn't consider herself a cooking expert

Mrs Roth is an attorney or was until she came to the rescue of restaurant operators hard put for cooking talent

She was only 21 when she was graduated from New York University School of Law

Shortly after she became the first woman member of the Connecticut Bar Association By 1929 she was city prosecutor for New Haven and a leader in domestic relations and juvenile court problems

Her friendship with restaurant people began in World War II As head of an anti-vice clean-up campaign she went to New Haven's hotel and restaurant managers for cooperation She got it

Then with the war over she was asked by the restaurant men to organize some kind of training school for chefs They explained that the top foreign-trained chefs were getting soon scarce and old

Mrs Roth's school started with 30 veterans training under the GI Bill of Rights

She hired eight retired chefs for her staff Within a year thanks to the generosity of the widow of a retired Yale University president Mrs Roth moved her institute to a 40-room mansion

Her culinary school turns out two types of graduates —one group qualifies as cooks after eight months of training and the other studies 18 months to get top chef or baker's rating

More than 50 per cent of the graduates enter the restaurant

By John Crosby

Terror Isn't What It Was

As an old fan of Wilkie Collins' "The Moonstone," a story that used to chill me to the marrow, I turned to it on "Suspense" the other night with mixture of anticipation and dread. I didn't think "Suspense" could transfer to the screen Mr. Collins' wonderful feeling of hopeless terror. As it developed, it didn't.

J. CROSBY

I don't know that this is anyone's fault. "The Moonstone" may be just beyond the scope of translation into dramatic terms. The moonstone itself is an immense diamond that has been stolen in 1690 from the brow of a Buddhist idol in Java and has had a curse on it ever since.

This is the old mysterious East malarkey, for which I have had a deplorable weakness for years, and "Suspense" did it up brown with sinister orientals slinking about smirking idols and dancing girls

AS THE HEIRESS who is the latest to inherit the jewel and the curse, Phyllis Kirk, who is just about the prettiest thing on television, proved she could look as terror-stricken as Laura La Plante who, long ago in the films, was my dream girl in this highly specialized respect.

I don't know, though. Terror has lost its terrors for me. Either I am getting on in years or terror stuff is not what it once was, conceivably because we have our private nightmares which are as bad as anything Wilkie Collins can dream up.

Speaking of that, an educator I know once asked a small child what TV program he liked. The child named a program and the educator asked him why he liked it. "Because," said the child happily, "it gives me nightmares." Perhaps all children don't dislike nightmares, as much as their parent-teacher societies would have us believe.

ANOTHER RECENT "Suspense" production was a dramatization of "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk," the big literary hoax. This one presented some unique dramatic problems. George Du Pre, the man who talked too much, in Quentin Reynolds' rueful phrase, had, of course, made the whole thing up.

Still, the "Suspense" production started out as if it were all the real thing and I found myself getting all emotionally involved in this tale of a resistance operative refusing to break under Gestapo torture.

Even though I knew it was a fabrication, I got carried away, spurred among other things by a fine performance by Harry Townes as a dimwitted French peasant. Then, suddenly, Du Pre is confronted by a man who traps him into revealing the hoax and I felt acutely let down.

The whole drama came apart at the seams right there. If anyone ever does "The Man Who Wouldn't Talk" again, which is unlikely, I suggest they just do it as straight fiction and let it go at that.

QUENTIN REYNOLDS, who wrote the story under the impression it was true, acted as narrator and, at the end, he said that he asked George Du Pre why he had done it. "He said he came out of the war with a message of faith. Of course, he went about it the wrong way, but the message is valid. If a man has real faith in his heart, he can endure anything."

To me the fascinating thing about the Du Pre story was its wealth of detail, small terribly authoritative detail. This story must have grown and grown in his mind until I doubt that Du Pre could himself remember whether it was true or not. The come-down when he had to admit — not to the others but to himself — that it was all a daydream, must have been frightfully painful.

Marion Youths Held in Attempt To Pass Check

Robert Ferguson, 21, of 473 Fies Ave. and a 16-year-old Marion boy are being held by Wyandot County authorities at Upper Sandusky on charges of attempting to pass worthless checks.

C. A. Kirchner, chief of police at Upper Sandusky, said today no charges have been filed against the pair. Kirchner said the pair did not succeed in passing any checks in Upper Sandusky, but Union and Pickaway County sheriffs' departments reported checks had been passed in their counties with Ferguson's name on them.

Kirchner said the pair hitchhiked to Upper Sandusky from Marion Monday, arriving there about 4 p.m. The two youths picked up blank checks from Upper Sandusky business places and then attempted to pass them, Kirchner said.

A total of four checks were written out, but none was cashed, Kirchner said. When the pair was picked up at around 5:30 p.m., both had checks which had been filled out in their possession, Kirchner said. The two were arrested after Ferguson attempted to cash a worthless check at the Kroger store.

Pope's Convalescence Likely To Be Lengthy

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A lengthy convalescence is expected for Pope Pius XII, still receiving some of his nourishment indirectly, it was indicated today.

The Vatican said the amount of food taken orally by the pontiff is being increased daily.

"It is hoped," it added, "that within the next few days indirect feeding may be entirely eliminated." Presumably the feeding has been intravenous.

After oil is pressed from copra, the dried meat of coconuts, the residue is valuable as stock feed and fertilizer.

School Bus Driver Thinks Fast, Youth Misses Car Wreck

LANCASTER, Ohio (AP) — The State Highway Patrol said a quick-thinking school-bus driver yesterday warned a 10-year-old boy away from the front of his bus just before an out-of-control car crashed head-on into the loaded bus.

The patrol said driver William R. Williams, 27, of Rushville, had stopped to let out 10-year-old Jerry Dupler when he saw a car approaching out of control.

Williams shouted to Jerry to get back to the side of the road.

The patrol said the car, driven by Robert E. Gordon, 51, Lancaster Rt. 3, went off the right side of the road then came across the road and hit the bus head-on.

Gordon and two children were treated at Lancaster hospital for cuts and bruises.

Gordon was cited to appear Friday in Municipal Court on a reckless driving charge.

Council Hears Firemen Argue Crestline Plan

CRESTLINE — Council here Monday night heard protests from village firemen concerning the proposed new fire department setup.

Four village firemen and Chief Ronald Saum appeared at the Council meeting protesting the plan which would eliminate one position in the department. Council had proposed the set-up as a way of cutting down on expenses, but the firefighters maintained that the department would be shorthanded. No action was taken on the matter.

Council passed a resolution to cooperate with village employes who never had been covered under the social security act in allowing them to join the program if they wish.

Mayor Nelson Lee suspended the 1954 annual $15 fee for garbage collectors in the village who complained that they were unable to meet expenses.

Because of insufficient funds, Council tabled the recommendation made by the Crestline Automobile Club for erection of 44 stop signs at an approximate cost of $255. The signs were requested for Thoman, Columbus, Henry, Pearl, Wiley, Emmett Sts., Clink Blvd., Park Road and Maple Drive, between the north side of W. Bucyrus St. and the south side of W. Main St.

Mrs. George Pegram, Crestline's Welcome Wagon hostess reported visits to 14 new families which have moved into Crestline since November.

Bills allowed and ordered paid amounted to $1,688.40.

Social Worker From Germany Will Visit in Crawford County

GALION — For the second time, the Crawford County Children's Home, located at Galion, has been selected as headquarters for a German woman while she is observing various phases of social work in the United States

Miss Hilde Mahler of Cologne, Germany, arrived here today. She is one of the foreign visitors in this country through sponsorship of the National Social Welfare Assembly, Inc, an international exchange project sponsored at the request of the Department of State of the federal government

The Crawford County Children's Home is the only headquarters the visitor will have in Ohio. Selection of the Home, here, has been made for the same reason it was chosen in December, 1952, for the visit of Miss Gertrude Kapp, Hamburg, Germany, social worker — in recognition of the outstanding job of welfare work performed by Marvin Adams, superintendent of the home, and Mrs. Adams, matron.

Miss Mahler will be here two weeks. During this time she will have the opportunity of studying many state facilities as well as those in Crawford County. The itinerary has been planned by Supt. and Mrs Adams.

For the past four weeks, Miss Mahler has been in Denver, Colo., at Grace Community Center She began her observances at the University of Minnesota where she spent seven weeks in the School of Social Work Her next stop was the United Charities of Chicago for six weeks, before going to Denver.

Currently an employee of the welfare department of the city of Cologne Miss Mahler is assigned to the City Hospital there, where she has worked since 1946 with vagrant women and girls. She has been employed by the city of Cologne since 1938, in earlier jobs in the employment office. She arrived in the United States, Oct. 1, 1953, for her program of study and observation as a trainee and will leave late in April for Germany

In addition to her training as a social worker which she completed in 1938, Miss Mahler studied home economics, agriculture and English, the latter in the Interpreters' School. She is a member of the union for professional social workers, and is interested in the Youth Hostel Movement. Her interests are almost exclusively related to her profession agencies and institutions which work with dependent and delinquent children, institutions for women offenders, the control and treatment of venereal disease, administration of departments of public health. She also is interested in vocational guidance and employment, and since arriving in the United States has displayed a strong interest in the cooperation of public and private agencies

While making Galion her headquarters, Miss Mahler will observe as follow: Feb, 18, Women's Reformatory at Marysville; Feb. 22, Miss Margaret Loris, personnel director of the Galion Iron Works and Mfg. Co. will take her on a tour of that plant and the North Elelctric Mfg Co; Feb. 23, a visit to state schools for mentally deficient, blind, and deaf, Feb 24, State Welfare Department visit, Feb 25, State Child Welfare meeting (executive secretaries of Child Welfare Boards of Ohio) in Columbus at the Virginia Hotel The program for the feeble minded will be planned at this meeting, and the speaker will be Henry J Robinson, state director of public welfare The day of Feb 26 will be spent at Galion City Hospital and the Galion Trouble Clinic, March 2, forenoon at the Girls' Industrial School, Delaware, and the afternoon at the Bureau of Juvenile Research in Columbus

On several of the trips, Miss Mahler will be accompanied by Mrs Harold Hartman, Galion case worker

Lindbergh: 13 Years Later

One of the most disturbing passages in American history must be reviewed in connection with President Eisenhower's proposal that Charles A. Lindbergh be reinstated as a reserve officer of the United States.

Lindbergh resigned his commission in anger 13 years ago at the climax of a bitter dispute with the Roosevelt administration and its defenders over their intervention in World War II.

Franklin D. Roosevelt had referred to him publicly as a traitor, in an intemperate attack which had been preceded and was to be followed by some of the harshest slurs ever made against a citizen of the United States by government spokesmen. An indication of the intensity of the attack made upon Lindbergh as the foremost symbol of the America First Committee was the selection of Harold Ickes, then secretary of the interior, to lead it. Ickes, possessor of the sharpest tongue in Washington at that time, flailed the former national hero mercilessly with his slanders.

And what had Lindbergh said to merit official abuse? These are samples:

"I would a hundred times rather see my country ally herself with England, or even with Germany with all her faults, than with the cruelty, the godlessness and the barbarism that exist in Soviet Russia."

"I am against buying time by spending French and English blood . . . I oppose aid to England that would weaken us or carry us into war . . . We are not changing the trend of the war by sending Britain aid—we're just prolonging it."

"It is by building our own strength and character at home—not by crusading abroad—that we can contribute most to civilization throughout the world."

When the United States was drawn into World War II, it was as unprepared as Lindbergh had said it was. He immediately offered his services to his government, and they were used extensively. It is only fitting now to restore him to rank as a reserve officer.

He has not forgotten nor should anyone else forget that on a matter where there was room for a difference of opinion in 1940 and 1941 he was the target of vile abuse by his own government.

Events have not proved he was totally right or wrong. But they have proved that the headstrong men who tried to destroy him as a critic owed him an apology in behalf of his government. It is that apology which President Eisenhower now proposes should be given.

Pass a Law?

There is no end of sympathy for people in the coffee trade who are on the receiving end of complaints about the price of their semi-precious commodity. They are in the middle.

Coffee producers outside the United States and coffee consumers inside the United States are putting terrific pressure on them in a market squeeze which has produced suggestions for adding coffee to the commodities covered by the Commodities Exchange Act.

This is the federal protection against squeezing which originated in 1922 as the Grain Futures Act and was broadened in 1936 to cover other commodities. Under the existing law, price manipulation, cornering the market, cheating and defrauding customers, making false reports, disseminating false crop or market information and many other practices are punishable. Since the coffee trade in the United States is channeled through the main exchange in New York City, it theoretically could be policed by the federal government.

The catch is the fact coffee is an imported commodity. The United States has no control over anything which happens to it until it reaches here. The New York Coffee Exchange, moreover, does its own policing to avert most of the abuses which would be dealt with under the federal law — and is just as anxious to quiet America's "coffee nerves" as any member of Congress.

Unfortunately, it can't tell Brazilians what to do with their coffee either.

February Forgiven

Judged by mud marks on overshoes and the vehicles stuck to the hubs in unimproved byways, February produced an old-fashioned January thaw.

But above the mud—where the level of appreciation begins—there was more to this thaw than January ever could claim.

Cardinals whistled from high trees and television aerials. Boys and girls walked hand in hand. Places where crocuses, peony shoots and new rhubarb are scheduled to appear in due time were scrutinized carefully.

It seemed as if the due time had come. It seemed as if spring had come. It hasn't, of course, but whenever February does this to us it can be forgiven for being February.

The anticipation of spring is infinitely better than the realization, which is always short of perfection. But on that first balmy day that redeems February, the intimations of spring are perfection itself.

Practical Solution

Pre-Strike Vote Would Help Labor, Management

A method of cutting down the number of strikes in America and at the same time increasing the value of collective bargaining has been approved by President Eisenhower as a desirable addition to federal law. Unfortunately, labor-union leaders as well as some management groups have been rejecting the formula without studying the possibility of amending it to make it suitable to both sides.

There has been a great deal of misunderstanding, for instance, in recent weeks about a pre-strike vote to be taken among the workers. If the purpose of the vote were merely to find out whether the officers fully represent the union members in declaring a strike, there would be no value in the plan. On such occasions, the workers would always vote anyhow to uphold the hands of their negotiators.

The latest version of the so-called "pre-strike" plan goes much deeper into the question of avoiding the huge economic losses suffered in this country every year by workers and management alike. It calls for a pre-strike vote only on the "final" offer by management.

THIS MEANS that management would have to decide the maximum that it was willing to concede and to stand on it firmly, even if a strike did come.

If the management of a company, as a result of a strike, gave better terms than it did in its so-called "final" offer, it would never again be regarded as sincere when it made a "final" offer, and there would always be a tendency to regard such an offer as merely a step in the bargaining process. Management's loss would then be obvious.

So far as the workers are concerned, if they rejected the "final" offer and a strike did materialize and they didn't come out any better in the end than they would have if they had accepted the offer made before the strike was called, there would be fewer strikes subsequently. Both the leaders and the workers would know the next time that a strike was not going to be beneficial.

The advantages to the union under a constructively developed pre-strike-vote plan would be much greater than under any present system of threatened strikes or protracted negotiation during strikes.

IF THE EMPLOYER made his maximum concession in his "final" offer, the workers by their vote would be taking full responsibility for accepting or rejecting it, and the officers would not be on the spot as they often are today when, in a complicated negotiation, they cannot always tell what move to make next. If the truth were told, many a union leader would confess that in some instances he misjudged management's firmness and that, if he had known before a strike was called all that he learned during a strike and after it was over, he might have compromised and accepted a "final" offer before the strike was declared.

There are rumblings throughout the industrial world, coming from workers and their families, that strikes are needlessly called. The workers themselves often feel that a management offer is good enough and that to go out on strike means an unnecessary loss of pay for the worker.

Certainly there is no logical reason why under a democratic system the workers should not be permitted to vote on management's "final" offer. They and their families have a direct stake in the decision and too often it is made by a small group of negotiators who find themselves in a strait jacket where they cannot call off a strike without themselves being discredited for having started it.

ONE OBJECTION made is that any formula to let the workers vote before a strike is called means introducing the machinery of the federal government into the picture.

An alternative suggestion to which President Eisenhower is strongly inclined, and one that is favored also by Sen. Alexander Smith, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, is to keep the federal government out of it altogether and to specify by law that unions shall include in their constitutions a clause setting up a formula for a pre-strike vote. The law would provide that, unless a union had such a clause in its constitution, it would not be eligible to conduct collective-bargaining negotiations.

The procedure for the strike vote would be one to be worked out between management and labor in each case so as to insure a secret ballot. The National Labor Relations Board or the U.S. Mediation Service would come in to help adjust any question of procedure on which the two sides could not agree.

CERTAINLY the new plan for a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management might not in every case prevent a strike but, if it succeeded in preventing 85 per cent of the strikes, America would save billions of dollars every year.

The largest part of this, of course, would be savings to the workers, who rarely ever gain enough out of the agreement finally consummated after a strike to make up for what they lose in their pay envelopes during a prolonged strike.

Labor union leaders may find on further examination that a pre-strike vote on the "final" offer of management gives them the biggest stimulus to successful negotiations they have ever had and still prevents immense economic losses to all concerned.

Tiger Who Came to Dinner

Strikes on Decline

By James Y. Newton

The current business decline over the country has resulted in a sharp drop in the number of serious labor-management disputes and strikes, federal officials report.

This, according to the government people directly concerned with such things, is the most peaceful period in memory of the labor-management front.

Officials of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service thumbed through their files and could find only 73 strikes, involving about 25,000 workers, going on over the country. These are strikes to which federal mediators were assigned in an effort to bring about settlements.

Last year at this time there were three times as many strikes, and in 1952 five times as many. The difference with regard to numbers of striking members was even more extreme.

Fear of loss of jobs at a time of rising unemployment and general economic downturn was given as the principal reason for the relative peace on the industrial front.

Mediation Service field officers report that there has been a marked decline in the use by unions of the strike threat in the effort to win their demands in negotiations with employers.

A big reason given for this is that in a number of important instances union members have refused to authorize strikes. Where strikes have taken place, the mediation officers say, it has been much more difficult than in past years for the unions to win.

An exception to the general situation was the strike of about 40,000 workers in December and January at the American and Continental Can Companies. There the unions were credited with victories.

A management group, the National Foremen's Institute, reported that the size of wage increases granted in union-management negotiations dropped in the past year. The average for this past January was 7.4 cents an hour, compared to 9.7 cents in January last year.

Mediation officials said the largest strike in progress at this time is the walkout of 2,500 union plumbers in Chicago. There are no large strikes, ones that would compare in size to the ones in the container industry.

The oldest strike is at Norwalk, Conn., where 1,500 employees of the Hat Corporation of America, have been walking the picket line since last July 9. That one is a very unusual strike. It doesn't involve wages or any of the usual issues. The workers are striking for a contract clause which would prevent the company from moving its operations to the South, as so many New England soft goods industries have done in recent years.

There is another recent development reported by mediation officials. While the number of strikes have dropped markedly, the negotiations preceding a settlement now are more prolonged than in former years.

Warnings Unheeded

By Edwin Strickland

Somewhere in these United States every day the story that follows — or a reasonably close version thereof — is enacted.

You see the plot filmed by the movies, read it in fiction or hear it on television and radio.

The story is one of the smooth confidence man who with seeming ease can turn hard-fisted businessmen into gullible suckers and take them for an expensive ride.

The plot is not always confined to fiction or to other mediums of entertainment.

It is not always something you read about happening to somebody in faraway cities. Sometimes it is close to home.

Let's take an example of a typical confidence operation that could separate a half dozen businessmen from a sum amounting to a small fortune.

It is the story of the man, young and ambitious, who is well known and liked in his community. He is married to a hometown girl. He is a good talker who "has connections."

It begins when he approaches acquaintances who have money to invest in a "sure thing."

The sure thing in this instance is duty-free diamonds that can be bought at bargain prices and sold at handsome profits.

The friends chip in a "stake" and the buyer goes off to make the purchase. He returns shortly with a roll of cash and reports a successful operation. All the "investors" get their money back with a profit.

The same thing is repeated several times. Each time the "investment" from each individual is a little heavier and each time the profits a little larger.

Now the stage is set. The "big shipment" is available if sufficient capital can be obtained. Everybody is set to make a killing.

The small fortune is gathered together and the buyer takes off. This time it's not to buy diamonds, but to put distance between himself and the persons who have backed his adventure.

Too late they realize they have been the victims in a "bunco."

Sadder and much wiser, the victims find themselves in a position of being unable to press charges without disclosing their own part in the business of buying duty-free diamonds. Most of them also are fearful of being labeled as "fall guys."

The confidence man goes free for want of prosecution. Authorities can do nothing without somebody to complain and to serve as witnesses against the bunko expert.

Yes, this is a typical confidence operation that has worked successfully for years all over the country.

Perhaps proving that Barnum was right about a sucker being born every minute, the old dodge has been operated again.

The story you have just read is true. The names have been omitted to protect the gullible.

Life Under the Lid

By TRUMAN TWILL

Once before when this column was written about an aged automobile whose time had come to be baled and melted down for the new models, an enterprising salesman hurried to the nearest telephone.

Since this occurred at a time when salesmen were sitting on their overstuffed davenports and taking orders, it showed unusual enterprise. Today, things are different.

But in case any salesman is tempted to do something impulsive, the impulse should be stifled. Don't call us, gentlemen. We'll call you—when the time comes. It cannot be far away.

Old Faithful is almost ready for the big parking lot up in the sky, where she can let her fenders sag. She was a good girl but her gemmum friends done her wrong.

They knocked off her fender skirts in a way no lady should have been asked to endure. Erosion, the natural enemy of all that is good and fair, marred her once-comely features.

The buxom bounciness went out of her underpinning, also her overpinning. Her paint peeled off like lipstick off a sodden barfly. Her windows rattled and her body cracked.

There came a time — it came last summer — when even the full treatment at the beauty salon could not conceal any longer that she had become a very old party.

In the fall, some vandal wrenched off a bumper guard, leaving her with the bedraggled appearance of a harridan with a front tooth missing. During the winter she snagged her bright work on obstacles at the curb and shed it.

It has been one thing after another.

Yet, because she had been so faithful, it was like having an old dog in the family. No one wanted to speak of the growing burden of years that was making Old Faithful's wheels spraddle out and her tail droop. None of us, after all, was growing any younger either.

Her lights began to go out. Her padding came unstuck. She trembled and lurched. But there was that feeling of diffidence about coming to grips with her decrepitude.

The good and faithful servant is not thrown into the gutter when his eye grows dim and his grip weakens. It is a way of life in America to be compassionate, even in dealing with old automobiles that have done uncomplainingly everything they have been asked to do.

Finally the blow fell from an unexpected place.

The family was looking at television. The scoundrel was shown crouched over the wheel of the getaway car. Sirens were screaming. There was the sound of unleashed power. It was vaguely familiar.

Suddenly the getaway car was shown in full view.

"It's ours," screamed a TViewer. "Brother, these movies keep getting older all the time," snorted another. "The guy will be lucky if the chain drive holds up," sneered another.

That does it, Old Paint. You are heading for the big parking lot up in the sky. Common decency dictates that when you're old enough to be in a television movie you're too old to be on the street. Even if you do have another 100,000 miles of life left under the lid.

George H. Hamilton, second to the oldest in a family of 15 children, was born on a farm near Marion April 17, 1829. He attended the district schools until he was 19 years of age. On the morning of his 21st birthday his mother gave him a half-dollar coined in the year 1809 which had been given to her by her mother. After working at grading on the Bellefontaine & Indiana Railroad for a time, he started for the Pacific gold fields in 1853, by way of New York and the Isthmus. At Aspinwall he took a skiff to Gorgona on the Chagres River and from there walked to Panama. He later lived in California and during the War of the Rebellion enlisted in Company B, 136th Ohio Infantry.

Winter vacation resorts are suffering from a five-letter word beginning with "M" . . . Motel. A motel is yesterday's tourist cabin with its face lifted, its decor magnified and its name in the social register. Once it was a nest of cabins that meant a mere overnight stop in a piano box with windows, but it now has developed into a highway "production number."

In its glorified pattern it dots the roads of America, but it is in the big resort areas that motels have taken on the tone of Arabian Nights, Hollywood and something out of Aesop. There are motels that have pools, bathing beaches and nightclub entertainers, and they are the resort hotelman's pain in the neck.

People who used to wish they had the nerve to stop and look over a motel, but hurried by for fear somebody they knew would see them, are now entering with signs of a swagger. There is one danger: The motel owner may overreach himself and make the glorified tourists' cabin setup so swanky that a vacationist may go to a big hotel, for a little simplicity.

Six Michigan Reds Convicted Of Conspiracy

DETROIT (AP)—Sentencings, then swift appeals from the defendants, were the next evident steps today after the conspiracy convictions of Michigan's six top Communists.

Five of the group—all the men—were in jail with their $37,500 in bonds canceled by Federal Judge Frank A. Picard.

The sixth, Mrs. Helen Allison Winter, who has been ill, was free on continuance of her $5,000 bond.

The group was convicted yesterday of conspiring to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government.

For Smith Act cases, it was a speedy verdict. The jury of seven women and five men required only six hours to reach its verdict. Other similar cases had taken far longer.

Found guilty were Mrs. Winter, 46, wife of Carl Winter, one of the top national Communist party leaders convicted similarly in New York; Saul Wellman, 40; Nat Ganley, 50; Thomas D. Dennis Jr., 36; William Allan, 47; and Philip Schatz, 39. All are party leaders in Michigan.

All the men were manacled in the courtroom and taken to the Wayne County Jail to await sentencing at 11 a.m. Friday. The six face maximum five-year prison terms.

After the conviction the defendants issued a joint statement announcing they would appeal and declaring their "only crime" was "fighting for and with the American people in their struggle for peace, democracy and economic security" and in working for socialism in the United States.

No Whistle Testers Are Needed by Defense Unit

BALTIMORE (AP)—When the Maryland state civil defense agency ordered 50,000 whistles last November, officials wondered if there would be enough volunteers to blow them.

The agency made an announcement to that effect in an effort to recruit more personnel.

A national magazine picked up the story but mistakenly said volunteers were needed to test the whistles.

Yesterday an application for tester was received from Edgar Maywood of Jonesboro, Ark. The agency regretfully turned him down.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Some residents of Veto community in Dunham Twp. (Washington County) feel they have been vetoed on telephone service.

The residents claim good telephone service would help them develop the community near new Veto Lake. They say numerous cottages and permanent homes are planned for the area. These would be occupied by persons who work in Marietta and Belpre, Ohio, and Parkersburg, W. Va.

Clubwomen Make Plans For Springtime Activities

Closing months of the 1953-54 season find members of the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs busy with plans for the annual community fine arts day, revising the federation's constitution, election of officers for the coming two years, and launching their newest project, departmental units in the federation.

Mrs Chester C. Roberts of the nominating committee presented the slate of officers for 1954-55 and 1955-56 term, plans for fine arts day were outlined and reports on progress being made in plans for departmental organization were presented at the February meeting of the executive board Tuesday in the Women's Club Home. Mrs. J. Edwin Probst presided for the meeting which opened with group singing of the hymn of the month, "Glorious Things of Thee are Spoken," with Mrs. Tim Wyant directing and Mrs. Harry T. Williams as accompanist.

THE SETTING UP of departmental groups in the federation marks a milestone in the progressive program of the Marion County Federation which is made up of more than 30 federated clubs. The step was taken after months of study of other similar groups and the return of questionnaires submitted to the more than 900 clubwomen earlier in the club season. Plans already are underway for setting up departments of art, drama and music, and other units will be formed in the near future. In discussing the departmental work, Mrs. Probst emphasized that clubwomen will not give up their own individual clubs and groups, but in addition to these club activities will be free to avail themselves of the advantages offered in departmental work. There is a need today, she points out, for clubwomen to establish a medium whereby all groups interested in the same objectives can have a common understanding.

Miss Mabel Wheatley, chairman for the fine arts day which will be held April 20 at the YMCA, outlined plans for the day. Displays are to be sponsored by the individual clubs and as in former years there will be a dinner in the evening. This year the speaker will be Dr. Fern Long, director of adult education in the Cleveland public library. Her topic will be "This Wonderful World of Books."

MRS. B. N. SALZMAN, chairman of the local campaign for the restoration of Independence Hall, a project sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs, reported that 12 clubs have contributed a total of $36 25 to date. She asks that other clubs get their contributions in at the earliest possible time. Mrs Chester C Roberts, in her report on library work, announced that a fine collection of books on music had been contributed to the Marion public library by the family of the late Mrs. B. L Wallace, clubwoman and prominent in music circles of the city for many years.

Mrs. Henry A. Mickley, Pan-American Fellowship chairman, reported $76 had been received for the fund. Mrs. Walter E. Hane reported on the plans of the home board of trustees and Mrs. J. C Turner reported on the federation's scholarship loan fund. The sum of $31 was reported in the patroness fund.

Miss Helen Bowe, chairman of the sale of articles made by the blind of the state asked that all returns be made by March 1.

Announcement was made of the book review to be sponsored by the Clionian Club Feb. 25 at the YMCA. The review will be given by Mrs. Kenneth Seiter of Newark, a former resident of Marion.

—:—

THE FOLLOWING slate of officers was presented. The election will be held at the March meeting at which time nominations also may be made from the floor.

College Plans Move Against Specialization

HAVERFORD, Pa. (UP)—President Gilbert F. White of Haverford College has announced a new Senior Seminar, financed by $29,000 from the Rockefeller Foundation, to help seniors overcome the evils of specialization.

By considering a fundamental human problem together, students from different fields expect to take stock and gain perspective and so prepare themselves for participation in the bigger world outside this suburban Philadelphia Quaker college.

Predictions on Business

Outlook Good, Chamber Says; Reuther Disagrees

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, voicing a cheerful outlook for the nation's economy, said today, "It is difficult to see any reason why this country should ever again experience an old-fashioned depression."

But CIO President Walter Reuther called it "dangerous and unrealistic" to think that "spring and the robins will bring prosperity."

He obviously referred in a statement for the Senate-House Economic Committee to recent predictions by administration spokesmen that the U. S. economy, which they contend is adjusting after the Korean War, will start turning upward about spring.

The Chamber said in its statement for the committee that so far the "inevitable readjustment" which it said was "bound to follow the end of fighting in Korea" has been "surprisingly easy."

The committee is making its annual study of the President's economic report, which Reuther described as a "weak-visioned document."

The Chamber said business in 1954 "will be good by any standards established before 1950," but that it probably will not be as "buoyant" as in 1953.

The Chamber pointed to these good signs: "Strong sources of investment and consumer demand remain Consumer income is still very high. Business intentions to invest in new plant and equipment indicate high level of capital investment this year."

Discussing unemployment, the Chamber said the Census Bureau reported that unemployment in January totaled 3 8 per cent of the civilian labor force. This, it said, is "in no sense an alarming amount."

However, the Commerce Department announced last night—after the Chamber statement had been prepared—that a new method of collecting statistics indicates that the number of unemployed early last month was 3,087,000—about 728,000 more than reported previously This works out to 4 9 per cent of the civilian labor force.

Reuther said there may be differences of opinion on the seriousness of the unemployment situation, but "the problem is real, it is here now, and it is inexcusable in a country like ours . . ."

The CIO president, who also heads the CIO United Auto Workers, said signs of an economic pickup have not been seen yet in the automobile industry. The Chevrolet division of General Motors, he said, has just cut back to a four-day week "at a time when they should be moving toward higher production."

He referred to recent criticism leveled at him by Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall. Said Reuther: "If worrying about unemployment makes me a prophet of gloom . . . then I must plead guilty."

The Air Force is to have its own academy, like West Point and Annapolis, as soon as a site with plenty of room for runways and a bona fide, kissing rock can be located.

Holstein Equals Record Of Five Ordinary Cows

DURHAM, N. H. (UP)—Everlasting Isadora, a registered Holstein owned by the University of New Hampshire, has produced approximately five times the lifetime amount of milk of the average cow.

Official test records of the Holstein - Friesian Association of America show that Isadora produced more than 100,000 pounds of milk, her lifetime production record. She was credited with 112,149 pounds of milk and 4,210 pounds of butterfat in eight lactations on two milkings daily.

GOT AROUND

NASHUA, N. H. (UP) — In the address space of a report on Alexander B. Clark, police wrote, "floater," and with some justification. When arrested in New Hampshire, Clark produced a Maryland driver's license, said he lived in Maine, and was driving a car that was registered in Connecticut Clark's $5 fine for operating an improperly registered motor vehicle was suspended.

Tips Listed To Get Top Auto Mileage

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Automobile drivers who adjust their city driving to traffic flow and the timing of traffic signals can cut fuel consumption of their cars nearly in half, according to the Keystone Automobile club.

A fuel-saving of about 25 per cent also can be achieved by lowering country speeds by 20 miles an hour, said Samuel T. Milliken, service manager of the club.

Pointing out that although the efficiency of engines and fuels has been increased greatly in the past 25 years, Milliken said the economical operation of a motor car still depends upon the driver.

He listed these tips on economical driving:

1. A light foot on the throttle can save up to half your gasoline when starting and shifting gears.

2. Go easy on the accelerator, when the engine is cold.

3. Fill the gas tank often: air in the tank mixes with the fuel and leaves moisture which may cause corrosion inside the motor.

4. Never overload the engine Shift into lower gears as necessary, avoid surging the throttle let the motor act as a brake in stops

5. Criss-cross tires on wheels and spare rim every 5,000 miles

6. Use the right weight of oil.
